جوردان تليمز يومية سيأنفية تصدر بالتجليزية عن المؤمسة الصحفية الأردنية «الراي،

BUDAPEST (R) - Hungary's strongest opposition group thrashed the rating Communists Saturday to win its second parliamentary seat in the first round of free elections since 1947. In a second-round by-election in southern Szeged, the Hungarian Democratic Forum (HDF) took 61.87 per cent of votes cast against just 22.05 per cent for the Communist Party. A third, independent candidate polled 16.06 per cent for the Communist Farty. A third, independent candidate polled 16.06 per cent. The winning candidate in Szeged, historian Erroo Raffay, is the second opposition member of parliament to be elected since the Communists suppressed all rival parties in the late 1940s. The first, Lutheran priest Gabor Roszik was elected July 22 in College. 22 in Godollo, near Budapest, in the only clear first-round result in by-elections in four constituencies. Saturday's vote was for the other three seats, where first-round voting was inconclusive either because the immout was too small or because no-one won a clear majority.

Volume 14 Number 4153

AMMAN SUNDAY, AUGUST 6, 1989, MUHARRAM 4, 1410

Price: Jordan 100 fils; Syria I pound; Lebanon I pound; Saudi Arabia 1.50 rivals; UAE 1.50 dirhams; Great Britain 25 pence

A terrified child cries amid the deafening thuds of artiflery duels in the

21 killed in fiery Beirut shelling

BEIRUT (AP) - Rival gunners 10-story building and blasted the and other areas with Grad misclashed in what a radio station called a "shelling storm" Saturday, killing 21 people including seven soldiers serving under army commander Michel Aonn.

The deadly, six-hour barrage also wounded 82 people in Beirut, the surrounding mountain villages and the eastern Bekaa Valley, according to a police

By police count, the 20-week confrontation between Aoun's 20,000 mainly Christian troops and the 40,000 Syrian soldiers and their militia allies in Lebanon has killed 537 people and wounded 2,266.

The police spokesman said the casualties Saturday included 10 dead and 40 wounded in the underground shelter of a residential building in the suburb of Favadieh.

A reliable source in east Beirut, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the building was used by Aoun's army as a "communications station.

Seven of Aoun's soldiers were killed in the shelter, the source

Aoun's command, however, withheld comment on the report. The shelter, according to the police spokesman, was knocked out by three 240-mm mortar shells fired from a Syrian emplacement in the summer resort of Baaleshmeieh, a few kilometres east of Fayadiyeh.

The spokesman, who cannot be named in line with police rules, said the three mortar rounds pierced the parking lot of the sidential districts in west Berrut underground shelter.

"Part of the building collapsed on the shelter and victims were buried under the rubble," the spokesman said.

Aoun's command at the Defence Ministry in the suburb of Yarze, one kilometre east of Favadiveh, sent hundreds of soldiers to evacuate casualties from the collapsed shelter, the police spokesman said.

He said casualties were evacuated in armoured personnel carners because "it was very risky for ambulances to operate due to the intensity of the barrage." Most of the casualties in Fayadiyeb were taken to the military hospital in east Beirut, the police spokesman said. At peak times of the duel, according to the spokesman, 60 shells per minute were being He said the two sides fired about 10,00 shells and rockets in the exchange. The Voice of Lebanon radio called it a "shelling He said the barrage started around 10 p.m. (1900 GMT) Friday sending civilians to basements and underground shelters.

The duel escalated sharply after the Syrians hit the shelter, the spokesman said. Aoun's gunners and their rightwing allies, the Lebanese Forces militia, entrenched in the 800square-kilometre Christian enclave "responded heavily," the spokesman added. Militia gunners sprayed siles from multi-barrelled rocket launchers, according to the

He said the 122-mm projectiles made gaping holes in apartment buildings, shattering walls and glass and starting several fires. Syrian gunners, manning howitzer emplacements along west Beirut's seaside boulevard. responded against residential districts in east Beirut.

The exchange spread to the mountains south and northeast of the war-divided capital.

Aoun's gunners also shelled the Bekaa Valley town of Chtoura which commands the Svrian army's supply routes from Damascus, the police spokesman Sources said the exchange started when Syrian gunners shelled the coast north of Beirut to prevent five cargo ships from docking at Aoun-held ports.

He said the vessels braved the "curtain of Syrian shells and anchored at ports north of Beirut."

Acun controls a 45-kilometre stretch of Lebanon's 210kilometre Mediterranean coast. In Damascus, Syrian Vice President Abdul Halim Khaddam discussed the crisis in Lebanon with two of its leaders Saturday. Diplomats said Khaddam met Acting Prime Minister Salim Al Hoss and Parliament Speaker Hussein Husseini to consider the results of the failed Arab mission. Hoss heads a civilian government at odds with a military cabinet led by Aoun.

His Majesty King Hussein Saturday confers with a

The delegation is headed by Sudan's Abdul Rah-

King briefed on outcome of WIC meetings in Amman

AMMAN (Petra) -- The outcome of the World Islamic Council's (WIC) relief and daawa was conveyed to His Majesty King Hussein at an audience held at the Royal Court Sarturday with WIC Vice-Chairman Field Marshal Abdul Rahman Swareddahab.

King Hussein heard a meeting on the cocuncil's objectives and projects, which, among other things, include support for Islamic institutions and mosques in the Israeli-occupied lands. The council, Swareddahab said, also deals with relief work for victims of natural disasters and wars.

King Hussein voiced deep satisfaction with the outcome of the two-day meeting, and wished the council members success in their noble and humanitarian mission.

The council members, including Swareddahab, earlier met with Prime Minister Sharif Zaid Ibn Shaker to brief him on the outcome of the meeting.

A statement said later that the council discussed the general condition of Al Aqsa Mosque and other holy places in Jerusalem, and Israel's practices designed to obliterate Islamic sites.

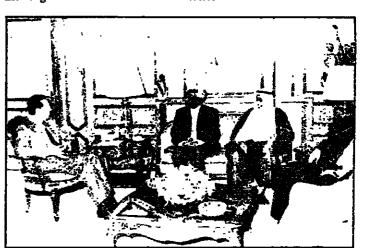

It said that the council recommended assistance and support for Muslim vouths in the occupied territories to maintain their. Jordanian government was mainsteadfastness.

The council discussed close cooperation among Islamic countries in setting up Islamic centres in Europe and the Far East. helping Muslim minorities in nonpromote the process of propagating Islam and Islamic culture.

Sharif Zaid voiced Jordan's pride in hosting the council's meeting here and said that the tories.

taining its full support for the Palestinian people under Israeli occupation and doing all it can to preserve and safeguard Islamic shrines in Jerusalem.

The council members also had Islamic countries and providing a meeting with Minister of Awqaf financial help and relief aid to and Islamic Affairs Abdul Aziz Al Khayyat, They reviewed with him the outcome of the ocuncil's meeting and questions related to the situation in the occupied terri-

A World Islamic Council (WIC) delegation headed by Sudan's Abdul Rahman Swareddahab (second from right) is received by Prime Minister Sharif Zaid Saturday (Petra photo)

Amman today

AMMAN (J.T.) — U.S. Assistant Secretary of State John Kelly is due to arrive in Amman Sunday for a two-day visit to Jordan for talks with senior officials on the latest developments in the Arab and international scenes. This visit is part of Kelly's tour to a number of region countries.

In Cairo, President Hosni Mubarak met Saturday with Kelly, assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern affairs, at the presidential residence. Reporters were barred, but news of the meeting was reported by official Cairo radio and the Middle East News Agency.

The agency quoted Kelly as saying that his talks with Mubarak were "fruitful." He said they dealt with Arab-Israeli peace efforts and the crisis in Lebanon. In Cairo, President Hosni Mubarak met Saturday with this year.

Kelly arrived in Cairo Friday from Israel. The trip is his first to the area after his appointment

U.S. diplomats said Kelly's programme was confined to talks with government leaders and that he had no plans to meet in Cairo with representatives of the Palestine Liberation Organisation (PLO).

During his Israel visit, Kelly met with 13 Palestinian notables from the occupied West Bank and Gaza. The dignitaries were not officials of the PLO, but they left no doubt in their comments on the meeting of their loyalty to the organisation.

The main topic of Kelly's Mid-dle East talks is the Israeli plan calling for elections in the West Bank and Gaza. Egyptian officials have said that, like the PLO, Cairo supports elections in principle but has reservations about the Israeli plan announced in May. The Egyptians agree with the PLO that elections should be an integral part of an overall settlement based on trading land for peace and that the 140,000 Palestinian inhabitants of Arab Jerusalem should have the right to vote.

Central Bank gives additional $16.5m to commercial banks

AMMAN (J.T.) — The Central Bank of Jordan tuition fees for Jordanian students abroad. (CBJ) Saturday announced it was to supply commercial banks with additional amounts of foreign exchange to cover imports not included in last week's list of commodities. A CBJ statement said a memorandum circulated to the banks said that an amount of $16.5 million could be immediately sold to the commercial banks and financial institutions at 815 fils to the dollar to be sold to customers at the rate of 820 fils to the

The earlier rate for the dollar was set at 850/870 fils in the course of implementing the CBJ's two-tier exchange system announced last month.

The CBI statement did not refer to the official rate of 573/570 fils to the dollar which was set last Wednesday and which can be obtained to finance imports of essential goods, some medicines and

The statement said that there would be additional steps designed to restore stability to the exchange rate of the Jordanian dinar, to meet the local needs of foreign imports and to reduce demand on foreign currency in Jordan.

The statement noted that the new step was complementary to the CBJ's series of measures within the framework of a policy to restore stability to the financial markets and bolster the national currency.

The CBJ last week introduced the two-tier exchange rate system in Jordan, allowing banks to trade at free market rates for financing nonessential goods, but made in mandataory for banks to adhere to the official rate in dealing with imports of essential commodities and services.

Two Palestinian prisoners found dead in Israeli prison

(Agencies) — The Isaeli army said Saturday that two Palestinian immates at a desert prison camp were slain by other detainees, but it was not clear if the killing was motivated by politics.

"During the count of prisoners at the Ketziot detention centre this morning, the bodies of two prisoners were found. They were killed by fellow immates," an army spokesman claimed.

The desert camp holds Palestimians arrested without trial during the uprising against Israeli occupation that erupted in December 1987.

Arab and Israeli reporters said the new killing appeared to stem from a personal quarrel. The army said the incident was under investigation. It identified the dead men as 28-year-old Ziad Abed MohamStrip and 32-year-old Ali Al Jesh, also from the Gaza Strip. Arab reporters said Banna was detained six months ago for hurling firebombs to enforce a commercial strike and Jewish was accused of throwing stones.

At least 88 Arabs suspected of collaboration with Israel have been killed by other Arabs since the uprising began. Army gunfire and Israeli settlers have killed 527 Palestinians, while 38 Israelis have died.

Israel radio said troops imposed a curfew Saturday morning on the Jabalia refugee camp and Tel Al Sultan neighbourhood in the Gaza Strip.

Arab reporters said that troops in the two camps summoned all males between the ages of 15 and 50 to central areas for questhat troops shot and wounded at least two people during protests in the Gaza Strip.

They said 11-year-old Ziad Abu Hillal of the Rafah refugee camp was treated at a hospital after a rubber bullet struck him above the left eye, while 23-yearold Abdul Hadi Ibrhaim Abu Ateliah of Gaza was treated at Ahli hospital for a leg wound caused by a plastic bullet.

The army spokesman's office and military sources said Saturday that two homemade pipe bombs connected to a timer exploded Friday night beside a road leading to an army camp near the village of Zababdeh in the West Bank, about 65 kilometres north of Jerusalem.

The army spokesman said there were no injuries or damage.

Hostage negotiations set back

BEIRUT (Agencies) — Negotia-tions to free Western hostages in Lebanon suffered a setback Saturday when the pro-Iranian Hizbollah movement ruled out the release of three missing

Israeli servicemen. Hizbollah, believed to hold two of the servicemen and to have close links to Lebanese kidnap groups, issued a statement to an international news agency in

The statement denied that the organisation was involved in negotiations for a swap involving Western hostages and the Israelis in exchange for a Hizbollah cleric and other prisoners held in Israel.

However, it named five Palestinian and Lebanese detainees held by Israel as among those the party wants released in addition to abducted fundamentalist cleric Sheikh Abdul Karim Obeid.

A ranking Maronite Catholic bishop crossed Beinut's dividing green line to meet with Hizbollah's spiritual guide, Sheikh Mohammad Hussein Fadiallah, and delivered a message from Pope John Paul II. The Hizbollah statement issued in Benut listed the five detainees as the "uprising heroes" Nidal Zaloum, Itaf Alyan and Abdul Hadi Suleiman Ghanem and the 'Lebanese resistance heroes" Anwar Yaseen and Soha Bishara.

The statement quoted an un-named "responsible source" at the party as saying: "We are as eager to obtain (their) release as much as we are eager to obtain the release of the detainees who belong to the sons of Hizbollah."

Soha Bishara shot and wounded Antoine Lahd, commander of the Israeli-backed South Lebanon Army Nov. 7, in his bome in Marjayoun, provincial capital of Israel's self-designated "security zone" in South Lebanon.

Alyan is a seamstress from Bethlehem who was arrested allegedly before she could carry out a suitcase carbombing in

Aug. 1987. Zaloum stabbed two Israelis to death in Jerusalem and Ghanem carried out an attack on a bus. Despite public disclaimers, Hizbollah is widely believed to be the umbrella for factions holding most of the 17 Western hostages held in Lebanon. The statement indirectly endorsed demands by hostage holders Thursday made to spare the life of American hostage Joseph

Justice Organisation said in a is playing a key mediation role in statement Thursday it was "freez-the crisis, has expressed optimism ing" the death sentence on Cicippio and replacing it with new Hizbollah demanded that Israel release Obeid, as well as Palestinians jailed during the uprising in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip and guerrillas it has captured. . It said lists of them are to be prepared within days and presented to the Red Cross. The chief delegate of the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) in Lebanon, Michel Dufour, told the AP Saturday the ICRC has not yet been approached. Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir's top aide said Saturday Israel was exploring all roads to the release of foreign captives in Lebanon but refused to "engage in a public debate" over demands from the group believed to hold Yossi Ahimeir also reiterated that Israel's proposal for an exchange of all foreign hostages and Israeli soldiers held in Lebanon for several hundred captive Lebanese was still valid.

Algeria's ambassador to Leba-

The pro-Iranian Revolutionary non, Al Khaled Al Hasnawi, who over prospects for the release of the hostages.

Israeli commandos sparked the crisis last week when they abducted Obeid, and two aides from his home in South Lebanon. A pro-Iranian group said last Monday had killed U.S. hostage Lieutenant-Colonel William Higpins because Israel failed to free Obeid. But a threat by another group to kill Cicippio was lifted

Goulding in Syria

U.N. envoy Marrack Goulding arrived in Damascus Saturday to seek Syrian support for international efforts to free foreign hostages in Lebanon.

"I came here to explore what the United Nations might be able to do to help promote a final solution to the hostage crisis," Goulding said on arrival from

"I think there is wide recognition that there is an international situation at present which may create conditions more favourable to solve the hostage crisis,"

(Continued on page 2)

MIDDLE EAST NEWS IN BRIEF

WASHINGTON (R) - Most Americans oppose Israel's abduss. tion of Muslim clergyman Abdul Karim Obeid and a majority of those polled now consider Israel to be an unreliable ally, an ABC

News-Washington post poll indicated on Friday. The telephone poll, taken Wednesday and Thursday, indicated 51 per cent of those surveyed disapproved of the Israeli capture of Obeld. Thirty per cent approved of the move while 19 per cent had no opinion

The survey said 53 per cent of those polled believed that Israel was not a reliable ally, while 29 per cent believed the country was reliable. A similar poll taken on April 3 showed that 51 per cent

Poli shows Americans oppose Israel's kidnep

Hekmatyar says rivals held captive

PESHAWAR (AP) — A hard-line Afghan rebel leader said Saturday his party still holds some rival guerrillas captive following a clash between rebel groups last month.

He also threatened to boycott the U.S.-backed insurgents' selfproclaimed government because it has failed to hold elections.

Gulbaddin Hekmatyar, head of the fundamentalist Hezb-i-Islami; or pro-Islam Party, said elections throughout war-ravaged Afghanistan and in refugee camps in Pakistan were essential to stopping internal clashes among the rebels fighting to oust Afghanistan's Communist government. "It would kill the tendency towards armed clashes. This is the only way of putting an end to our problems..." the bearded, turbaned Hekmatyar told a news conference.

It was his first public appearance since his backers were accused July 9 of killing 32 members of another rebel group, the Jamiat-i-Islami, or Party of Islam, in northern Afghanistan.

Hekmatyar, who has drawn heavy military backing from the United States through Pakistan. said only 11 Jamiat men were killed but that 30 others "are being held captive and are still alive. He did not give conditions for their release.

Hekmatyar claimed his men ambushed the Jamiat rebels because they had repeatedly attacked his local headquarters in northern Takhar province.

He called the clash a "local. regional conflict" and not a war between the two parties.

Jamiat leader Burhanuddin Rabbani has called for Hekmatyar's group to be suspended from the "interim" government proclaimed by their fractious, sevenparty rebel alliance based in

BAGHDAD (Agencies) -

Thousands of people gathered in one of the main square's of Baghdad Saturday to witness the restoration of the statue of the first

The king, founder of modern

Iraq, had fought with the legendary British military leader,

(T.É.) Lawrence of Arabia, to carve the modern states of the region out of the crumbling Ottoman empire during World War I.

the Iraqi state in 1921 until his death in 1933. His statue in the main square of the capital was knocked down when the monarchy was ended with a revolution

tions from Iraqi President Sad-ers at the time.

He reigned from the birth of king of Iraq, Faisal I.

Statue of Faisal I restored in Baghdad

The rebels formed the government last February during a series of acrimonious meetings in Islamabad, the Pakistani capital. It was designed to take over if they succeeded in toppling the Kabul government after Soviet troops completed their withdrawal from Afghanistan that month.

Hekmatyar joined it as foreign minister on condition that it held elections within six months.

In response to a question Saturday, he indicated he would give up on the five-month-old government if elections were not held by Aug. 10.

Critics have assailed the rebel government for its lack of unity and exclusion of other Afghan rebel groups, some based in Iran.

"Elections would include other parties, provide a legitimate body to draw up a constitution, dispense with tribal prejudices and prevent internal fighting." Hekmatyar said through an inter-

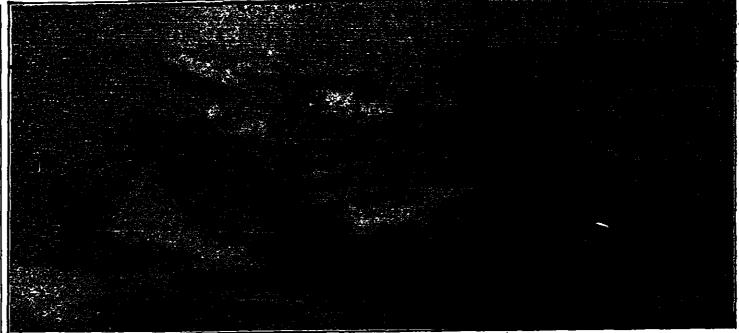

He called on Afghan army soldiers to stage a coup with the rebels' help and set up a "revolutionary council" to oversee nationwide polls.

Hekmatyar's proposals appeared aimed at deflecting growing criticism of his party for alleged treachery against other rebel groups.

The Hezb-i-Islami has received major portion of billions of U.S. dollars in military backing funneled through Pakistan.

Virtually all rebel parties favor the establishment of an Islamic Afghan government but remain divided over religious ideology and personal loyalties.

The Communists seized power in Afghanistan in a 1978 coup. Moscow intervened the next year and have continued to back the government with military and way from Singapore. with eight escorts, believed to be heading for the Middle East after reports in Washington said that the Bush

RUSH TO MIDEAST? The aircraft carrier America under administration was keeping "all options" open in dealing with the hostage crisis in Lebanon

EC urges continued Arab effort in Lebanon

PARIS (R) — The European Community (EC) has urged Arab mediators to press on with a mission to end Lebanon's 14-year civil war despite an apparent impasse in their effort.

Foreign ministers from Algeria, Morocco and Saudi Arabia said Monday their peace bid had reached a dead end and the next move was up to Arab heads of

An EC statement, issued Friday by current president France. expressed "deep concern" at the acknowledgement by the three states that they were unable to solve Lebanon's conflict despite exhaustive contacts with Arab and international powers. An Arab League committee appointed the trio to end Lebanon's worst bout of fighting last May, pitting Syrian, backed forces against army units loyal to Army Commander Michel Aoun.

Hundreds have been killed in artillery battles between the two sides. Meanwhile Lebanon has had no president, two rival governments and a paralysed parlia-

The statement said the 12-nation community recognised the intense efforts made by the committee as well as the diverse forces that have hampered its

"The solution to the crisis in Lebanon demands the reestablishment of security through a complete ceasefire and the rerival militias) and a political settlement based on necessary reforms and on the restoration of the authority of the state of Lebanon and the withdrawal of non-Lebanese forces," it declared.

"While appealing for a con-tinuation of the Arab effort, they (community members) reaffirm their determination to contribute in all ways towards a peace solution in Lebanon," it added.

In a separate development, Lebanese and French doctors appealed to faction leaders to stop bombarding hospitals so that doctors could get on with saving

"Stop bombing civilians... and help the white shirts of the medicmoval of blockades (of ports by al teams, regardless of who they are," they said in an appeal addressed to French President Francois Mitterrand and the Lebanese and Syrian ambassa-

> More than 30 doctors in white robes presented the appeal to the two embassies in Paris on behalf of the medical organisations Medicins du Monde and Samu Liban.

The two groups have collaborated since April 1, sending medical supplies and 30 doctors on one-month missions to all areas of Lebanon.

Most public hospitals in Lebanon remain open but have not escaped indiscriminate shelling and artillery exchanges.

In October 1977, Algerian officials negotiated face-to-face at the foot of a Japanese airlines

DC-8 hijacked by Red Army guerrillas, securing the release of remaining hostages in exchange for a $6 million ranson and the release of six comrades in

The hijackers apparently were allowed leave Algeria quietly, as presumably happened at the end of the April 1988 hijacking of a

Kuwait Airways jetliner to British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and U.S. Secret-

Japanese jails.

Algeria has reputation as honest mediator ended in Algiers.

made a reputation for mediating difficult hostage crises over the past decade, including the January 1981 release of Americans held hostage in the U.S. embassy in of President Hussein who has high respect for King Faisal as the founder of the modern Iraqi state," Jassim added. He described Faisal as "a sincere Arab leader," and denied that the reinstallation of the statue had been requested by "any-

The 2.5 metre high statue represents Faisal dressed in traditional bedouin dress riding an

This (action) is the brainchild

The government has spent $3.2 million this year to renovate Baghdad's royal cemetery which contains the remains of Faisal I, his son Ghazi and grandson Faisal

Several books published re-His grandson, King Faisal II, was killed by revolutionary officcently in Iraq have praised the role of Faisal I and his son Ghazi in struggling against the British Minister of Culture and Inmandate over Iraq, which ended formation Latif Nassiyaf Jassim in 1932, and later British influtold the crowd that the statue was ence over the country. reinstalled under direct instruc-

King Ghazi was killed in a car crash in 1939

Several times after French hos-ALGIERS (AP) - Algeria has

Algeria has been able to combine strong revolutionary credentials in the Arab World with good contacts in the West and a skilled diplomatic corps to pay a crucial role on several occasions although usually the details of that role have never become Algiers radio reported Saturday that its ambassador in Beirut, Khaled Hasnawi, was making progress in talks with different parties about freeing hostages, vhether "Lebanese. Palestinians Americans, Europeans or Israelis.'

Hasnawi also was quoted as saving in several interviews in Beirut that Algeria had undertaken an initiative to free the tages were released by pro-Iranian groups in Lebanon in 1987 and 1988, officials in Paris made a point of thanking Algeria publicly for its help, but both sides refused to spell out what was done.

"We have a skill that we put at the disposal of the international community," the Algerian ambassador to Washington, Mohammad Sahnoun, told reporters in April 1988 after hijackers of a Kuwaiti jetliner gave up the plane peacefully and apparently were allowed to slip out of the

"This is not always understood," Sahnoun said, referring to demands that Algeria help them to trial. He said to divulge details of the agreement would break Algeria's word to the hijackers and damage its chances of being useful in the future.

Perhaps the most prominent Algerian success in mediation

Weinberger disputes McFarlane's claim

came on Jan. 20, 1981, when American hostages held for more than a year in Tehran stepped off an airliner at the Algiers airport as the result of a deal between Iran and the United States that Algerian diplomats worked on for months.

"A happy ending might change the American view that we are Communists," a senior Algerian official said at the time. From the time it won independence from France in 1962 after a long and bitter war, Algeria has maintained close ties with the Soviet Union, and also with hardline groups of different

But while Algeria is often in clear sympathy the aims of hardline organisations, it has steered clear of endorsing or supporting extremist tactics Still, it has been criticised harshly for allowing hijackers to ary of State George Shultz were among those who criticised the decision to let the hijackers of the Kuwaiti iet --- who had killed two of the passengers — go free. Algeria issued a statement rejecting what it called an effort "to fling discredit on an action which saved precious human lives go free when airline dramas have from murderous violence."

Algiers.

17 drug smugglers hanged in Iran considered Israel to be reliable.

NICOSIA (R) - Seventeen drug smugglers were hanged in public in the northeastern framian city of Mashhad Saturday, public in the northeastern framan city of massional Marinay, Iran's news agency IRNA said. The agency, monitored in Nicotia, said they were convicted of selling, distributing and possession of 200 sacks of opium and 10 kg of heroin. The hangings took the immber of people executed on drug charges in Iran this year to

Saudi Arabia beheads murderers

DAMMAM, Sandi Arabia (R) — Sandi Arabia publicly be-headed an Ethiopian and a Sandi after Friday prayers following their conviction for murder, the Interior Ministry said. Ethiopian Abdulla Adem Ahmad was executed in the Red Sea port of Jeddah for stabbing to death Ethiopian Fatema Rashid Ibrahim and her children, Abdul Rahman and Wedyan. Saudi Abdul Rahman Ahmad Abdul Rahman was beheaded in Mecca for killing another Saudi, Salem Abdul Aziz Salem. Murder, terrorism, rape and drug-trafficking are capital crimes in Saudi Arabba

israeli 'loan shark' jalled

MIAMI (AP) - An Israeli convicted of exacting extertion payments on a loan he made to a woman artist was sentenced to 12 years in federal prison Friday. According to testimonic presented by assistant U.S. attorneys Allan Sullivan and Judith. Kozlowski, Moishe Meshulam Tel Aviv loaned $12,000 to Milita Hannon, a painter. The testimony from the March 1987 trial said he loaned her the money in November 1987 with the understanding it would be repaid in three weeks. Testimony introduced at a trial before U.S. District Judge Eugene P. Spellman indicates. Hannon paid Meshulam $10,000 the following February and $5,000 in March. But he demanded $27,000 more as "interest under threat of bodily harm. According to a Federal Bureau of Investigations (FBI) affidavit, agents found some of the artist's paintings when they executed a search warrant on Meshulam's apartment after his arrest April 14, 1988. Hannon died before she could testify against Meshalam. According to the government, Meshalam also used the name "Tony Bernadino." He claimed he was born in Italy but was adopted by an Israeli couple when he was still a child. A woman friend, Maria Victoria Clemente, also was convicted by the same jury, but will not be sentenced until next month.

Turkish minister's resignation demånded

ANKARA (AP) — The main opposition party and a human rights group have called for Justice Minister Oltan Sungurla to resign because of the deaths of two leftist prison immates on a hunger strike. Social Democrat Populist Party spokesman Cevdet Selvi said Sungurlu was solely responsible for the deaths of immates Mehmet Yalcinkaya and Huseyin Husnu Erogiu and that "he should step down." The two inmates, who had been on a hunger strike for 35 days, died Wednesday after they were transferred along with 310 other prisoners from Eakisehir province to a prison in Aydin, some 500 kilometres to the west. Nural Ucurum, the prosecutor in Aydin, said the immates died of dehydration. The daily Communiyet reported Friday that Justice Ministry Under-Secretary Arif Yuksel said 23 other fasting immates were in serious condition and had been transferred to the prison infirmary in Aydin.

N. Yemen, S. Arabia hold top-level talks

NICOSIA (R) - North Yemeni Prime Minister Abdul Aziz Abdul Ghani arrived in Jeddah Saturday to lead his country's delegation at the meeting of the Saudi-Yemeni Coordination Council. The official Saudi Press Agency said Abdul Ghani was welcomed by Saudi Defence Minister Prince Sultan Ibn Abdul Aziz, and was to begin talks with him later Saturday. Abdul Ghani is accompanied by ministers of the interior, education. information, agriculture and fisheries. The council last met in Sanaa in July, 1987.

'Omar Khayyam an Irishman'

LONDON (R) — Omar Khayyam was not a Persian poet but an Irish sheepfarmer whose most famous work was called "Ruby's Hat," a London newspaper said Friday. In a response to Libyan leader Muammar Qadhafi's joke that William Shakespeare was really an Arab called "Sheikh Speare," the Evening Standard said it had its own literary sensation. Rather than a 12th century teacher of astronomy and mathematics in a Persian observatory, the authentic Khayyam was called O'Mara Kevin who kept chickens in Cork during the late 18th century. O'Mara's master piece, dedicated to his griffriend Ruby's Sunday toque, was deliberately mis-attributed by a jealous rival — hence "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam." Key lines of "Ruby's Hat" were later mistranslated by 19th century scholar Edward Fitzgerald, crucially altering the profound beauty of the original, the Standard said. What Fitzgerald rendered as "the moving finger writes and having writ moves on" should have read "the moody thinker drinks and having drunk moves on." Qadhafi's tongue-in cheek claim was first heard by deputies of the Tunisian parliament last December when he told how Arabs had taught Europeans medicine, geography, time-keeping, astronomy and literature. "Sheikh Zubayr Ibn William was Shakespeare. Shake came from sheikh," said Qadhafi, laughing as the Tunisian deputies ap-

Negotiations set back

(Continued from page I) he told Reuters.

"There does seem to be a widespread feeling that this hostage problem has got to be tackled fundamentally and this is time to do it."

Goulding said that after three days of discussions in South Lebanon he had not yet "obtained concrete proof that Colonel Higgins is dead and I pray he is not dead."

The 44-year-old Viewam veteran was commanding a 76man observer unit attacked to the

JORDAN TELEVISION

South Lebanon when he was kidnapped Feb. 17, 1988. Before Hizbollah's statement Saturday, hopes of an entl to the week-long standoff had been growing.

U.S. President George Bush said Friday he believed a solution was possible after an offer by Iranian President Ali Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani to help Washington to free the nine U.S. citizens believed held in Lebanon. The Tehran Times, close to Iran's Foreign Ministry, said the next move was up to Washington. BOSTON (AP) — Former National Security Adviser Robert McFarlane's claim that military mismanagement thwarted two air raids on radical groups in Lebanon in 1983 was challenged Friday by former Defence Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

'He's just as unreliable on this as he was on virtually everything else I ever did with him, Weinberger said in an interview with television station WCVBown military chain of command."

and winds will be northwesterly mod-

Nairoukh pharmacy

TRBID:

In an interview shown Thursday on WCVB-TV's show "Hostage," McFarlane said the United States came close to mounting bombing raids twice in 1983 when government intelligence learned where the groups were training. McFariane said the missions were aborted because "of our Marine barracks in Lebanon claimed the lives of hundreds of U.S. servicemen. McFarlane said the United States had "extremely good intelligence" that Hizbollah militiamen were training in barracks in a valley in eastern Lebanon.

Most Western hostages in Lebanon are believed held by factions of Hizbollah, Party of God, an Iranian-backed fundamentalist

In the first attempt, U.S. pilots circled so long over the area that Syrian air defences could have been able to "turn on, track them, shoot them down," McFarlane said. McFarlane blamed the delay

"inept mismanagement" by the pilots' superiors. McFarlane said Weinberger called off the second raid, which In 1983, the truck bombing of a had been planned with the French government, because the defence secretary felt it was too Weinberger's decision resulted in "great damage to our credibility and put an end to any hopes of dealing with these terrorists," the former national security adviser

Weinberger strongly denied the allegation.

"There were certainly no danes in the air about to make a strike that were turned back, and there was most certainly no faihere to cooperate," Weinberger said. "Those are just plain McFarlane was unavailable for further comment Friday, McFarlane spokeswoman Cindy Carpenter said in Washington. She said he really had nothing more to say on the subject," she

Jordan Electricity Authority ... 815615 Electric Power

McFarlane said Thursday there was never an effort planned to rescue the hostages because officials never had intelligence on where they were. McFariane pleaded guilty last year to four misdemeanor counts of withholding information from Congress about Reagan administration efforts to funnel military aid to the Nicaraguan contra rebels. He left his National Security Gouncil (NSC) post in November 1985, but remained active in policymaking, leading an unsuc-cessful arms-for-hostages mission to Tehran in 1986.

He attempted suicide in 1987 after the Iran-contra scandal broke, but since has cooperated with prosecutors by testifying at the Oliver North trial.

U.N. peacekeeping force in

| PROGRAMME ONE                      |
|------------------------------------|
| 15:30 Kora                         |
| 15:40 Programme revie              |
| 15:45 Children programm            |
| 17:16 Footba                       |
| 18:00 News summary in Arabi        |
| 19-85 Local programm               |
| 18:29 Give Me a Brea               |
| 19:15 Local programm               |
| 10-48 Programme review             |
| 28:60 News in Arab                 |
| 20:39 Arabic serie                 |
| 21:40 Programme review             |
| 21:50 Local programm               |
| 22-49 Varieties programm           |
| 23:00 News summary in Arabi        |
| 23:99 NCWS Stronger y til Atlant   |
| PROGRAMME TWO                      |
| 17:30 Le monde magique chantal goy |
| 18:00 Loft stor                    |
| 18-39 La chance aux chanson        |
| Name in Proper                     |
| 19:00 News in Frenc                |

...... News in English
Shake Hands Forever PRAYER TIMES

29:30 Foul ups — Bleeps & Blunders 21:10 Doc. "Assignment Adventures"

News in Hebrew

... News in Arabic

Varieties program

CHURCHES

St. Mary of Nazareth Church Sweitich, Tel. 810740 phlies of God Church, Tel. St. Joseph Church Tel. 624590. Church of the Annunciation 637440. De la Saile Church Tel. 661757 Terrassuta Church Tel: 622366 Church of the Annunciation Tel. Anglican Church Tel. 625383, Tel. Armenian Catholic Church Tel. Armenian Orthodox Church Tel. St. Ephraim Church Tel. 771751.
Annual International Church Tel. Ammon 685326.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints Tel. 815817, 821264 WEATHER

Bulletin supplied by the Department of

Normal summer weather is expected

JORDAN TIMES DAILY GUIDE AND CALENDAR

ZARQA: Dr. Sulciman Aba 'Adileh EMERGENCIES Yesterday's high temperatures: Amman 31, Aqaba 39. Humidity readings: Civil Defence Department . Civil Defence Immediate zue Police ..... 192, 621111, 637777 USEFUL TELEPHONE Fire Brigade... Blood Bank .. NUMBERS Highway Police Traffic Police ... NIGHT DUTY Public Security Department .
Hotel Complaints .......
Price Complaints ........ Dr. Mohammad A Dr. Bahjat Badr . ad Al 'Ajam .... 849362 Dr. Khaldown Klub ...... Dr. Ibrahim Abu Kouta . 826919 675480 787111 First pharmacy ... Ferdows pharmacy 778336

623672

Central Arman Telephone

623101

.661101

Repairs
Abdali Telephone Repairs
Jordan Television

636381 hight Information .......... 08-53200 st. Alia Inti, Airport...... 08-53200 HOSPITALS AMMAN: n Medical Centre .... 813813/32 Rhalid Maternity, J. Ann.... 64281/6-Akileh Maternity, J. Ann.... 64241/2. Jahal Amman Maternity....... 662362. Mathas, J. Amman ...
Palestine, Shmeisani ...
Shmeisani Hospital ...
University Hospital ...
Al-Muashez Hospital 636140 845845 6677271 843402 666127/37 Al-Ahli, Abdali Italian, Al-Mohaireon Al-Bashir, J. Ashrafieb 664164/6 630321 777101/3 661176 897467 Amal Hospital ZARQA:

> (09)991071 (09)986732 (02)275555 Greek Catholic Hospital Ibn Al Nafees Hospital AQABA: Princess Haya Hospital .... (03)314111 FOR THE TRAVELLER

(09)983323

61:15

QUEEN ALIA INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT This information is supplied by Royal Jordanian (RI) information department at the Queen Alis International Airport Tel. (08)53209-5, where it should always be verified. ABRIVALS Royal Jordanian (RJ) Flights (Terminal 1)

Agaba (RJ) Jeddab (RJ) .. Cairo (RJ) 18:35 Kuwait (RJ) Abu Dhabi, Duhai (RJ) Lamaca (RJ) New York. Amsterdam (RI) Paris (RJ)
Madrid, Geneva (RJ)
Brossels, Frankfart (RJ)

Other Flights (Terminal 2)

mbui, Aukara (RJ) Rome (RJ)

Royal Jordanian (RJ) Flights (Terminal (1) ... Madrid (add.) (RI) ..... Aqaba (RI) Istanbul, Ankara (RI) 12:05 Vienna, New York (R.) Tunis, Catabianca (R.) 12:20 12:45 . Jeddah (add.) (RJ) -20:15 28:40 21:00 Vienna, Minmi (R.) 71:15 ... Baghdad (R.) ..... Cairo (R.) 21:15 21:20 Abu Dhebi, Dubei (R.) Damescus (R.) 22:30 22:30 Other Flights (Terminal (2)

Dubni (AZ)
Cairo (MS)
Muscat, Sharjeh, Doha (GF)

London, Cairo (BA)

14:30 14:45 17:25

23-30 MARKET PRICES Corn Cacambers (Inrge)
Cucumbers (small) 450 / 400 160 / 120 1250 / 1000 Grapes (red) Lemon (yellow)
Lemon (green)
Marrow (arge) 240 / 200 240 / 200 360 / 300 320 / 280 300 / 250 520 / 440 520 / 450 400 / 350 Obca. 170 / 140 170 / 140 170 / 140 170 / 140 220 / 195 320 / 270 100 / 80

More on the Royal wedding

AMMAN -- Members of the Royal family Thursday congratulate the newly weds, Her Royal Highness Princess Zein Bint Al Hussein and Mr. Majdi Anwar Al Saleh, after the wedding ceremony last Thursday, Above the newly weds with His Majesty King Hussein, Her Majesty Queen Noor and other Royal family members (Photos by

Cigarettes

after short

AMMAN (J.T.) — The Jordan Tobacco and Cigarette Company

announced Saturday that it provided the local market with large amounts of cigarettes sufficing all

As the announcement was made long queues of people were spotted in front of stores and groceries in Amman wishing to purchase cigarettes which were scarce in the past two weeks.

Farid Al Saad, the company's director general, said that the delay in supply was mainly due to the procedure of sticking tags on all the produced cigarette packets bearing the new prices in accordance with a government decision

Sand said that there will be no extra cost added to the prices which were fixed by the govern-ment. The prices of all local brands of cigarettes went up as of July 29, according to the government measure. The reason for the increase in prices, the second since April this year, was not

Upon announcing the increase, the Ministry of Industry and Trade said that cigarettes found in stores were to be sold accord-

Saad also said that it was agreed with the ministry that the company should delay supply for week so that storekeepers will

He also stressed that the company will make available sufficient supplies of cigarettes at all sell their stocks at the old rates.

ing to the previous rates.

available

delay

consumers' needs.

on July 26.

explained.

NATIONAL NEWS BRIEFS

KING CONGRATULATES UAE: His Majesty King Hussein has cabled congratulations to United Arab Emirates (UAE) President Sheikh Zayed Ibn Sultan Al Nahayyan on the anniversary of ng his constitutional authorities. In his cable, the King wished the UAE president good health and the people further progress and prosperity. (Petra)

CABINET DECISIONS: The Cabinet, meeting Saturday under the chairmanship of Prime Minister Sharif Zaid Ibn Shaker, endorsed an agreement under which the Arab Fund for Social and Economic Development provides Jordan with Kuwaiti dinar 10.5 million to finance the integration of Jordan's and Egypt's national electricity grids. The cabinet also endorsed the amendments proposed on the charter of the Arab Labour Organisation. It also approved educational programmes broadcast on radio and television to school

KHAMMASH IN BAGHDAD: Minister of Transport and Telecommunications Hikmat Al Khammash left for Baghdad Saturday to take part in a ministerial meeting designed to promote cooperation among the four member Arab Cooperation Council (ACC) countries in the field of transport. The meeting is due to open in the Iraqi capital Sunday and the ministers of the four countries — Jordan, Iraq, North Yemen and Egypt — will attend a ceremony for the formal opening of an Arab satellite "Arabsat" station Monday. Apart from the formal meeting, Khammash is expected to hold bilateral talks with his Egyptian, Iraqi and North Yemeni counterparts on means of bolstering Jordan's cooperation with their countries in transport and telecommunications. (Petra)

UNIVERSITY APPLICATIONS: Post offices around the country Saturday started handling applications from students wishing to enrol at Jordanian universities in accordance with an agreement which also entailed unifying the four universities registration process. The application procedure is expected to continue until Aug. 15 and a list of accepted names in any of the four universities will be announced by the end of the mouth, according to university officials here. The officials said that the applicants have a variety of 53 subjects in the scientific field and 24 subjects in arts to choose from. (Petra)

CONGRATULATIONS: The chief editor and staff of the Jordan Times congratulate their colleague Mr. Elia Nasrallah on the wedding of his daughter 'Abir to Spiro Khader. The wedding is taking place Sunday, 7 p.m., at Virgin Mary of Nazareth Church,

KHLEIFAT RECEIVES ROMANIAN ENVOY: Minister of Youth Awad Khleifat Saturday discussed with Romanian Ambassa-dor Dimitrie Stanescu bilateral relations and means of developing INTERNATIONAL GAMES FOR PEACE: A Jordanian athletic team will represent the Greater Amman Municipality at the international games for peace which will be held in Morocco in Aug. mternational games for peace which will be need in Morocco in Aug. 28. Greater Amman Mayor Abdul Raouf Al Rawabdeh received invitations in this regard from mayors of a number of Moroccan cities where the matches will be held. (Petra)

WHAT'S GOING ON

The following listings are compiled from monthly bulletins and the daily Arabic press. Readers are advised to verify the listed time and place with the concerned institutions.

EXHIBITIONS

- ☆ A plastic arts exhibition by the Student Affairs Department's Painting Club of the Yarmonk University at the Housing Bank
- An exhibition of cartoons by the late Jordanian artist Rabah Sughayyar at the Plastic Artists Association, Shmeisani.
- A photo exhibition entitled "Bedown Today" by Japanese photographer Koji Safo at the Royal Cultural Centre.

☆ An Arabic play entitled "Thamanul Thill" (Price of a Shadow) at the Royal Cultural Centre - 8:00 p.m.

A. A leature film entitled "Sounder" at the Royal Cultural Centre

Paper urges people to take part in polls

AMMAN (J.T.) — Jordan's leading Arabic daily newspaper Saturday called on eligible Jordanians to take part in the coming parliamentary elections which are expected in November.

Al Ra'i reiterated His Majesty King Hussein's statement that the coming elections are intended as another step to bolster the national unity in Jordan following the amendment of the election law that followed the severance of links with the occupied West Bank.

The call followed Saturday's televised interview with Deputy Prime Minister and Interior Minister Salem Masaadeh who said that elections could take place between Nov. 8 and 18 this year. All Jordanians regardless of their origin are united behind their King and the national cause, and are called on to display unity and to take part in the coming elections, the paper said. Masaadeh said that candidates in the coming elections would be allowed to run in lists, and the government does not intend to interfere in the issue of voter lists.

Candidates with political interests could run

Political parties have been banned in Jordan since 1957, but Masaadeh's statement indicated that the candidates sharing political interests could run in electoral alliances.

"I hope our candidates will be objective, appreciate their responsibilities and realise what the country needs to boost its existence and stability," the minister noted.

The minister said that nearly 800,000 voters have been registered so far and the total number was expected to reach 1.2 million.

Masaadeh said a national convenant governing all aspects of Jordan's economic, social and political life would be prepared after the elections, and this charter might allow political parties to resume activities under certain conditions.

King Hussein dissolved the Lower House of Parliament elected just before the 1967 war on July 30, 1988, a day before the Kingdom broke ties with the West Bank.

Half of the members of the 60-seat House represented the West Bank which had been united with Jordan since 1950. According to a recent amendment, the toal number of the Lower House of Parliament members will be 80. Meanwhile, committees set up by the Ministry of Interior to revise voter lists for the coming elections are reported continuing their work in carnest. A statement said that work is going ahead with urgency to register 19-year-old citizens who are eligible to vote, to cancel the names of convicted persons who are, by law, prevented to cast ballots and to handle complaints raised by members of the public concerning registration of voters.

The statement announced that the committees had embarked on their task on Aug. 1; and according to the law, they have 57 days to complete their work in all constituences.

Khayyat visits SOS children's village

AMMAN (J.T.) — Minister of Awqaf and Islamic Affairs Abdul Aziz Al Khayyat Saturday paid a visit to the SOS Children's village at Tareq, near Amman, and paid tribute to those in charge of the project and commended the workers and employees endeavour to give protection and decent upbringing to the destitute and orphaned children there.

"Islam urges all members of the society to give protection and support and care for the orphans and the homeless," Khayyat said in a statement during his tour of the village which was opened by Their Majesties King Hussein ו אלו נוו זססא מפפונע ממ

The minister was briefed on the different services offered to the 66 children who are being cared for by foster mothers at nine homes in a family-like atmos-

He was also briefed on the development of the SOS village which was built by the SOS Kinderdoft International Children's Village Organisation based in

The organisation, which was founded in 1960 in Austria by Hermann Gmeiner, aims to coordinate the worldwide work of the promote understanding between peoples and individuals.

Sheikh Abdul Aziz Al Khayyat

The purpose of the SOS children's village is to help children who are in need of care after losing their parents, or those who are homeless due to other

The villages provide perma-nent homes for these children in small family — type groups of six to eight children who live and grow together like brothers and sisters. The head of a family is the SOS foster mother who provides the children with affection and a sense of security.

Last June an agreement was signed here, paving the way for the establishment of a regional office in Amman by the SOS organisation.

The Amman village is the 14th of its kind in the Arab World; and according to SOS officials, work is now underway for expansion which will include the setting up of a vocational training centre, a branch village in Aqaba and a SOS Children's Villages, youth kindergarten for the Aqaba houses and other SOS facilities to branch.

N. Yemeni cooperatives chief arrives in Amman

AMMAN (Petra) — Secretary General of the North Yemeni Cooperative Organisation Sadek Abu Ras arrived here Saturday on a four-day visit to Jordan and talks with the Jordanian officials. Abu Ras is expected to meet with. the Director of the Jordan Coop-erative Organisation (JCO) Mrewed Al Tal to discuss cooperation between cooperatives in Jordan and North Yemen. Tal has just returned from a visit to Baghdad where he took part in the meetings of the General Federation of Arab Farmers Unions. Tal also held separate meetings with heads of cooperatives attending the federation meeting in the Iraqi capital.

University awards doctorate degree

AMMAN (J.T.) — A panel of professors at the University of Jordan headed by Dr. Mahmond Al Samra, the university president, Saturday awarded the doctorate degree to Mohammat Ahmad Al Majali. The award followed the presentation by Majali of his thesis entitled "the Arab Fighting Cities in Contemporary Poetry: Jerusalem, Beirut and Basra between 1948 and 1988." The photograph shows Majali presenting

Minister of Youth Awad Khleifat Saturday briefs thes and programmes during Queen Noor's Her Majesty Queen Noor on the ministry's activithe ministry (Petra photo)

Queen visits Youth Minist

AMMAN (Petra) — Her Majesty | activities in different parts of the | youth and sports related to the Queen Noor Saturday paid a visit to the Ministry of Youth and was briefed on activities and programmes concerning the youth organisations and clubs around the Minister of Youth Awad Khleifat briefed the Queen on the tors of the various departments ministry's programmes which in-clude cultural, sports and youth about the ministry's functions in country. The Ministry of Youth is concerned with helping the young Jordanian generation to develop their skills and their potentials, Khleifat noted.

The Queen met with the direc-

Queen Noor propose I

Jordanian voitta ballet en en libi chance to come together our students and youth groups to universities from other county She said that meh you undertake volumer, ... work in different pay-Kingdom.

Qasem receives new Turkish envov

AMMAN (J.T.) — Turkey's ambassador designate to Jordan Ocktay Aksoy Saturday handed Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister Marwan Al Qasem a copy of his credentials as ambassador to Jordan. Ocktay, who is expected to present his credentials to His Majes Hussein later, succeeds Semily Belen who served as Turkey's ambassador to Jerdan Vinio January 1986 (Petra photo)

Badran calls for revision 🤈 agricultural research policy

AMMAN (Petra) - Recent de- the National Centre for Agri- tension service. velopments in the agricultural cultural Research and Technolosector in the Kingdom requires a revision of the whole agricultural research policy and calls for double efforts in research work by Yousef Rushdi, addressed specialists to increase the output. Agriculture Minister Adnan Bad-ran said in a statement Saturday. extension services. In order to fulfil the national economic objectives and to increase national exports of agri- centre which will turn out trained cultural products and reduce im- cadres who will be needed to ports, the method of production carry on with the process of exmust be developed and modemised, the minister said at the opening session of a three-week training seminar attended by officials and technicians from the agricultural extension service employed in various parts of the country.

"Jordan strives to maximise its exploitation of its natural resources and compete with foreign products on the European markets," Badran said.

He underlined the importance of the scientific research and agricultural extension services in promoting output. He said that

Workshop on curricula development opens

AMMAN (J.T.) - Two workshops on new trends in curricula development and instructions in chemistry and biology were opened at Sukaina Bint Al Hussein Secondary School in Amman

Saturday.

The two workshops which are being sponsored by the Noor Al Hussein Foundation (NHF) are part of the current preparations for the opening of the Jubilee School expected in 1991. The project's director, Nawal

Hashisho, presented an outline of the programmes at the two workshops and also a briefing on the Jubilee School's future prog-Altogether 30 people are taking part in the two workshops which are being held in cooperation with the British Council and the Moray House College of Education in Edingburgh, Scot-Participants in the six day workshops will do practical work and hear lectures on ways of developing biology and chemistry

The centre's director general. opening session, stressing the need for training personnel in

Rushdi said that work is under way for the construction of the of Jordan will deal with a tong. topics concerning agricul - 1 tems and their applications ing the seminar which is after it. by extension service staff country's five agricult-

Lecturers from the language

The seminar is being in the National Centre 19 cultural Research and Title gy Transfer.

JORDAN PHOSPHATE & CC., LTD.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Jordan Phosphate Mines Co., 122 announces that the closing date of tender No. 19F/89 (design, supply, supervisit. erection and commissioning of mine shop at Eshidiya Mine) is extended 12.00 hours local time Thurs 14.9.1989, instead of 15.8.1989.

> Wase: Managing Director

-announcement---

The Swedish Embassy in Amman will move to premises effective from Monday, Aug. Visiting hours: Sunday - Monday and Wednesday Thursday 09:00 - 12:00 a.m. Address places real

Swedish Embassy P.O. Box 830538 AMMAN Telephone: 669177/78, 688823 Telefax: 669179 Telex: 22039 SVENSK JO

Kuwaiti To 5th Circle Korean Embassy of Sweden Embassy Street

By Dr. Fahed Fanck

جورين تايعز بومية عرببة سيضجة سخلاة نصدر بالانجليزية عز المؤسبة الصحفية الاربعية

Editorial Director: RAKAN AL MAJALI Director General: DR. RADI AL WAQFI Editor-in-Chief: DR. WALEED M. SADI

Editorial and advertising offices: Jordan Press Foundation,

University Road, P.O. Box 6710, Amman, Jordan.

Telephones: 667171-6, 670141-4, 684311, 684366 Telex: 21497 ALRAI JO Facsimile: 661242

The Jordan Times is published daily except Fridays. Subscription and advertising rates are available from the Jordan Times Advertising Department.

Noble gesture

THE significance of the Saudi Arabian financial support to Jordan in the tune of $200 million goes beyond its intrinsic monetary value. In substantive terms this Saudi aid tells a magnificent story of fraternal assistance to Jordan and deep confidence in its financial and economic institutions, not to mention the long standing and unshaken political confidence in the Hashemite Kingdom and what it stands for regionally and internationally. Surely the importance and relevance of the $200 million supersede its value in dollars and cents.

And coming as it does at this critical juncture, the Saudi Arabian financial help deserves the deepest appreciation and gratitude of all Jordanians as its cumulative economic effect will touch everybody. On the personal level, the entire country is deeply indebted to His Majesty King Fahc for making this significant assistance possible at a time when it is needed most. This noble and wise Saudi gesture has been ? constant feature of the Saudi dynasty that goes back to

And in the wake of the Saudi aid, time is opportune for other Arab governments to emulate it in order to accelerate Jordan's determination to overcome its economic woes. Needless to say, Jordan constitutes a principal component of the total Arab defence infrastructure. Without Jordan's potent defence capabilities, the western flank of the Arab Nation in the Middle East would become wantonly compromised. In this vein, it is common knowledge that the economic security of Jordan is an indispensable and integral part of the entire Jordanian military security posture. To undermine Jordan economically and fiscally is tantamount to weakening its defence capabilities and threatening its resolve to defend the Arab Nation. Seen against this backdrop, the Saudi financial aid to Jordan is an investment in the integrated Arab defence plan. Other Arab assistance would likewise fortify this investment in the service of the Arab World and its defence needs. As is well-known, the Arab Nation is being continuously threatened by regional and international enemies and any weakening of its overall defensive posture would render it recklessly vulnerable and make it an easy prey for the enemies of the nation. Jordan and Jordanians are deeply touched by the Saudi gesture and extend their full gratitude.

Jordan Press Editorials

SAUDI Arabia's decision to come to the aid of Jordan and King Fahd's statement that his country will continue its backing for King Hussein's leadership was given prominence in local Jordanian Arabic dailies Saturday. Al Ra'i daily commented on the development, and the just announced Saudi financial aid to the Kingdom by saying that it is a genuine display of solidarity among Arab brothers. The paper said indeed Saudi-Jordanian relations are exemplary and should be copied by the rest of the Arab World. The Saudi statement, the paper added, is a very positive development pointing to a true solidarity among the Arab countries and can only contribute to further bolstering links between the two Kingdoms. Above all, the Saudi statement reflects the Arab Nation's deep appreciation of Jordan's political and pan-Arab stands and its policies at all levels. As the Arabs realise that the strength of Jordan is part of the strength of the whole nation, the paper continued. It said that Jordan will continue to serve as a strong fortress in the face of external threats and a nation that will maintain endeavours to bolster inter-Arab cooperation and enhance solidarity among the Arab states.

A columnist in Al Ra'i daily discusses the hostage question in Lebanon and repeats an open accusation of Israel that it was behind the escalation of tension in the Middle East because it abducted the Shi'ite religious leader from his home in southern Lebanon. Abdul Rahim Omar says that the current flurry of diplomatic activity and the massing of naval forces in the sea came in the wake of Israel's action which triggered the assassination of Colonel Higgins by the extremist Lebanese group. The writer says that the world's attention is now being focused on the hostage question; and probably Cicippio, the next hostage threatened to be killed by his abductors, is now the most important person in the world in view of all the attention being directed towards him by the United States and the world community at large; and in the light of ongoing mediation efforts to save his life. Omar says that, while the Arabs continue to be preoccupied with the bostage issue, and while they sympathise with the families of all hostages they also turn their attention to Palestine where the whole population lies hostage to Israel's repression. The Arabs in general and the families of the abducted people in Palestine cannot help feeling that the United States is directly or indirectly responsible for the ordeal of the Palestinians and the hostages in Lebanon.

Sawt Al Sheah daily said in an editorial Saturday that Jordan. which is confronted with a very chronic economic and financial problem, had never lost its confidence in itself or its Arab brothers. The Kingdom has faced the problem bravely but also had looked to its sister states for assistance which came from Saudi Arabia, the country that appreciates Jordan's national stand and its wise policies in dealing with pan-Arab affairs, the paper noted. It said that Saudi Arabia realises that Jordan is facing a Zionist conspiracy designed to destroy the national economy and deal a devastating blow to the Arab order, and has decided to extend a belping hand to this country at the critical moment. Jordan, which deeply appreciates King Fahd's move, feels that it is being supported by word and deed by its sister states as it continues its relentless endeavours to serve the Arab causes and to stand firm in the face of Israel's expansionist and colonial designs in the Arab region, the paper added. The paper said that Arab countries appreciate Jordan's position and the Kingdom's steadfastness over the past 40 years in the face of external threats.

Sunday's Economic Pulse

Central Bank half-floats dinar

FOR two months now, the Central Bank has given the fixed exchange rate of the dinar a try. But the results were negative. Foreign exchange earners were compelled to turn to the blackmarket because of 35 per cent difference between the market rate and the official fixed rate. The Central Bank finally got the message and did not waste more time. As of Aug. 1, the dinar was again floated to find its right level which can clear the market without causing acute shortages. The commercial banks were formally allowed to quote market prices for their incoming and outgoing transfers which most of them were doing any way, but under cover.

The Central Bank singled out a short list of commodities to receive favoured treatment, i.e., the official rate, which currently represents a 36 per cent discount. The short list included basic foodstuffs, certain agricultural inputs and the expenses of Jordanian students abroad. Pressures may cause the list to grow and get longer down the road. The margin on the other hand, may become wider and more costly.

In effect this step meant that the dinar is floating as far as 80 per cent of the market is concerned, and is fixed and subsidised by 36 per cent for the balance of the market. It also means that the decision of what to subsidise, and to what extent, is left to the Central Bank instead of the competent authorities at the Ministries of Finance and Supplies.

It is of course expected that commercial banks will not finance the importation of the favoured commodities, because they are not in the business of losing money. So it will be left to the Central Bank to come up with the cheap foreign exchange estimated to range around $50 million a mouth.

The capacity of the Central Bank to provide this size of money is dependent on receiving substantial amounts of Arab aid. But even in that case the Ministry of Finance may not be willing to swallow the bullet and finance the sizeable loss of more than JD 12 million a month in the form of implicit subsidy to the importers of the favoured commodities. However, drawing on past experience, it is conceivable to envisage such a possibility, because the Treasury was always in the business of losing money. The question is whether the IMF will also swallow the new implicit subsidy of around JD 150 million a year, to be added to the deficit already running at around 23 per cent of gross national product. If that happened, off-budget subsidy will be more than double the explicit subsidy tolerated in the budget.

One may wonder whether it is reasonable or advisable at this time to invent and introduce new subsidies, as the action of the Central Bank inevitably means. We know for sure that we must do our best to minimise subsidies in order to reduce financial deficit It will be surprising to introduce such massive subsidy which no one asked for, and then worry about its phasing out or removal in the future. In that case we may be inviting trouble.

The Central Bank was realistic and daring when it floated the dinar, as long as it is not able to support the fixed rate. But, is it advisable to experiment with a double exchange rate system and the distortions that go along with it, together with a prohibitive price to the Treasury of that magnitude? The answer is no, but the government may have different views.

Economic and monetary policies should not be half-hearted. If we are convinced of floating the dinar, let it be a full and real floating, whereby the Central Bank can and should intervene, not by fixing rates and promoting black market, nor by ordering the banks not to exceed a ceiling, but by influencing supply and demand as a regulator and major player in the market.

U.S. wants Israel to compromise

By P.V. Vivekanand

AMMAN — The Bush administration's approach to Middle East peacemaking is based on a philosophy which sees changes in Israeli political thinking as an inevitable element in any realistic move towards settling the Arab-Israeli conflict, according to an American expert who was closely involved in the process that led to the separate 1979 Camp David peace agreement between Egypt and Israel.

William Quandt, who served the Carter administration as a senior State Department official, asserts that the Bush White House took the first step in the philosophical scenario when Secretary of States James Baker called on Israel in May to abandon its "ideological claim to a greater Israel." The U.S.envisaged process, Quandt says, now involves convincing the Israeli body politic that territorial compromise is the only key to comprehensive peace with the Arabs and the political changes that will accompany such a conviction, which will be conducive to bring about a comprehensive settlement.

According to Quandt, who delivered two lectures on American policy in the Middle East in Amman last week, Washington is seeking to "influence (and check) the Israeli trend towards noving to the (extremist) right," which rejects return of any of the occupied territories. The continuation of the dialogue between the Palestine Liberation Organisation (PLO) and the U.S. government is part of the American quest and it is also a 'channel to "normalise" the U.S. role as a mediator in the conflict, Quandt said.

According to Quandt, the right-wing Likud bloc in Israel enjoys the support of the Sephardic community (Jews who emigrated to Israel from Arab countries) not because this particular sector of the electorate endorses the hardline approach adopted by the party but because of the discrimination priental Jews suffered under successive Labour governments. He points out that there are very few Sephardic Jews who have moved to settlements in the occupied territories and this could be taken as a sign of their position on Palestinian rights. Thus, the Sephardic community could be one of the focal points of the American moves to steer Israeli thinking towards accepting the centrality of territorial compromise in any peace settlement, according to Quandt.

Failure of Camp David

The former American official, who is now doing research in Jerusalem, argues that the Camp David treaty was "a major watershed" in Middle East politics, but agrees that it failed to achieve anything substantial other than bilateral peace between Israel and Egypt. Even at that, he says, "there is no warmth in peace. (The treaty) did not lead to the removal of any barriers or to friendly relations."

At the same time, the accords produced a "triangular strategic relationship" among Israel, the U.S. and Egypt and removed Egypt from the military confrontation scene, freeing Israel to launch its 1982 invasion of Lebanon, "which paid the highest price for (the treaty) and continues to pay a terribly high price." It is unlikely that Israel would have launched an invasion of "such a scale and ferocity" had it not been for the departure of Egypt from the immediate Arab military equation, he adds.

The Camp David agreement failed in realising the main objective of comprehensive peace in the region since "it was too thin a base" and "inadequate" to address the basic issue of the conflict — the Palestinian problem. "The Palestinians were not involved in the accord, which focussed more on the process than substance and left an obscure formula calling for "negotiations based on the principles of (U.N. Security Council) Resolution 242 to settle the problem," Quandt recalls. The obscurity was intentional, he says, since Israel, headed by then Prime Minister Menachem Begin, "did not agree that 242 meant Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories" and could have aborted the accord in its final stages. Briefly reviewing developments in the Middle East in the past 10 years, Quandt emphasised that there has been very little change in the political leaderships, and, by extension, little impact on the political systems in the Arab World. He points out that Egypt remained committed to the Camp David accord despite the 1981 assassination of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, who signed the accords. Another major event was the 1987 power struggle in South Yemen, but it did not bringabout any changes in the country's political system. Quandt did not refer to the coups in

The political map of the region remains much the same as it was in 1979 except that Lebanon "is in total collapse," Egypt is now back in the Arab fold and the Palestinian uprising in the occupied territories "caught everyone by surprise (and) undermined the belief that the Palestinians inside the occupied territories are unable to take any initiative" and warranted a new Arab as well as international approach to the issue.

However, he argues that by and large the regimes in the Arab countries directly involved in the Arab-Israeli conflict have proven their stability and quashed the predictions of many who had raised questions over the long-term survival of some Arab leaderships.

Quandt also sees the eight-year Gulf war, which came to an end with a ceasefire last August, as having achieved nothing for either side except having sacrificed almost a million lives and consumed tens of billions of dollars. He notes that both Iran and Iraq are ruled by the same leaderships, both remain effectively on the same borders as when the war broke out and a comprehensive peace settlement is still elusive.

'Redefining priorities'

However, Quandt finds an increasing "preoccupation" in the region with internal economic problems and a "redefining of priorities." He points out to the "petrodollar boom" in the seventies and early eighties which heralded instant wealth but "very little long-term development." There is now "a growing realisation towards internal economic problems" as well as changes towards more "social and political justice."

He described as a landmark the recent Algerian move towards multi-party democracy after decades of domination by a single party and sees the shift as a sign that "a lot of political experiments are under way in the Arab states."

At the same time, he also raised concern over what he sees as a stepped-up race in the Middle East to acquire advanced weapons "at a time whhen the failure of the use of military force to settle political problems has been proved" in Afghanistan, Lebanon and the Gulf. So, the threat of a war in the region is very much alive as long as the fundamental issue is left unaddressed. However, Quandt does not see Syria as a "credible military threat to Israel despite its heavily Soviet-equipped military might and quest for strategic parity with the lewish state.

The countries in the Middle East have also seen that "ideoloies" cannot offer political solutions, says Quandt underlining the Iranian revolution and its failure to live up to its own people's expectations in political, social as well as economic terms.

So, the obvious conclusion from the present state of affairs, seen in the light of experiences in the last 10 years, warrants that dialogue is the key to peace and stability in the region.

Superpower involvement

Quandt sees the international atmosphere and the East-West detente as highly favourable to Middle East peacemaking since he believes that superpower involvement is vital and inevitable in any realistic peace process. He referred to superpower cooperation towards moves to end regional conflicts in Asia and Africa as well as the Iran-Iraq war as a positive sign of important shifts in both Washington and Moscow.

Quandt said it was high time for the superpowers to get together and move towards setting the ground for Arab-Israeli negotiations, which, in their course, could tackle the "controversial, sensitive issues" of the Middle East. He believes that there is a 10 to 20 per cent chance of success, particularly that the two could meet "without a cold war atmosphere," and, "in diplomatic terms, it is enough" to start moving.

According to Quandt, the American policy in the Middle East has always been based on three considerations: fear of Soviet domination of the region, the pressing global need for oil from the Gulf states and the American commitment to Israel's security. Having seen increased superpower cooperation in regional peacemaking, however, Quandi does not believe that Moscow and Washington have built enough confidence in each other to alleviate American fears of "Soviet domination" of the Middle East. "The Soviets have made new approaches to Iran and this is worrying the Americans." he says referring to the newly concluded military cooperation and trade agreements between Moscow and Tehran.

On the global oil need, Quandt says that "no responsible American leader" can afford to overlook the oil factor when considering the Middle East, particularly in light of its allies' dependence on Gulf oil and their economic considerations.

Equally important to the U.S. is its commitment to Israel's security, "which could only come through a comprehensive peace settlement" with the involvement of Arab partners. These three factors put together warrant that the U.S. "should have access to good relations with the Arab World." At the same time, Quandt rejects the oft-heard Israeli call on Arab countries to "normalise" relations with the Jewish state as a precondition for peace negotiations. "It is unrealistic to expect any Arab state to do so as long as the Palestinian problem remains

Where do we go from here? "The Israeli position is unrealistic," Quandt said. Furthermore, the internal Israeli political scene is so complex that unless and until the Israeli people accept the concept of land in exchange for peace there is little chance of success in any peace effort. The U.S. cannot be expected to come up with a magic formula to settle the conflict. The parties directly involved should work it out and the U.S. can only offer a mechanism towards achieving agreement.

Shmeisanı P.O. Box 780n Amman, Jordan Tel. nJ4676, 60469n 慕堂餐廳

AURANT CHU

The first & best

Chinese Restaurant

in Jordan

isi Circle, Jabal Amman, near

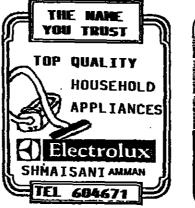

Ahlivyah Girls School

Take away is available

Open daily 12:00-3:30

6:30-Midnight

Tei. 638968

MANDARIN

Chinese Restaurant

The only typical Chinese

cuisine in Amman.

Chinese Flaming pot is available

Take away available

Tel: 818214

specialities

p.m. 6:30 - Midnight

Open daily 12:00 - 15-30 18:00 - 23:30 Come and taste our Wadi Saqra Road - near Traffic Bridge Open daily 12:00 - 3:30 Amman, Jordan Tel: 661922

STUDIO HAIG

Develop your colors film at our shop and gets

* JUMBO photo

* Free enlarge

ment 20 x 30 cm

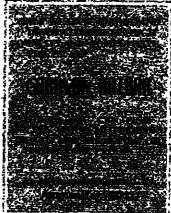

Shmeisani Opp Grindlays Bank Phone 604042

Swefieh tel: 823891

Professional Quality in I Hour Servick

size 30% larger

Take-zwzy service Open daily Noon - 3:30 р.ш. & 6:30 p.m. - midnight Location: Near 3rd Circle opposite Akilah Hospital Tel: 641093

Kashmir

Restaurant

FIRST CLASS INDIAN

RESTAURANT

Special Executive Luncheons

Take away service

available

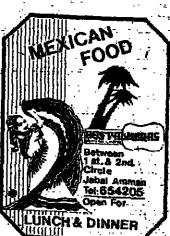

Open Daily 12.30 - 3.30 pm 7.30 - 11.30 pm

After the Holiday Inn hotel

Tel:659519 659520

Towards 3rd circle

Simple truth vs. institutional truth

There is 'institutional truth' favoured by politicians, the military and commerce and there is painful reality. That is the choice John K. Galbraith, economist and political thinker, put before the women graduates of the elite Smith College, Massachusetts, in this commencement

IT WILL not be my purpose, you world you will find it far easier to make money than your econoyou instruction as to your future manners, morals or civic responsibilities. My purpose today is strictly functional; it is to warn you of the grave choice you face in the years ahead.

It is not that of a career. In this affluent and flexible world careers can readily be changed if your first decision proves unduly

Nor is it the choice of a husband. They too can readily be changed if that seems desirable. Nothing has been more liberating in our time than our acceptance that adolescent errors of ardour need not be endured for a lifetime. And as my wife, a Smith graduate, would advise, husbands can, with a little effort, be remoulded to fit your personal needs and convenience.

Nor will money be problem. Most of you will belong to that financially favoured part of our polity which is adequately protected in its well-being — that minority which, according to current Washington doctrine, must be protected in its affluence lest its energy and initiative be impaired. (Your position will be in contrast to that of the poor, to whom money, especially if from public sources, is held to be deeply damaging).

In this financially tolerant mics courses have implied. Any financial deprivation you will suffer in the years ahead will be at the cost of things you don't really

I come now to your real choice. Your real choice will be in the realm of truth. Specifically, it will be in deciding whether you will be guided by sometimes inconvenient, even painful reality or by what I will call institutional truth.

Institutional truth in our times bears no necessary relation to simple truth. It is, instead, what serves the needs and purposes of the large and socially pervasive institutions that increasingly dominate modern life. Institutional truth is what serves the organisations that dominate and guide our military affairs - the military/industrial complex or, in common reference, the Pentagon, and extending out through the revolving doors to the great weapons firms and on to captive congressmen of Capitol Hill. And institutional truth is what serves our great foreign policy apparatus — the State Department, the National Security Council and the CIA. It is also what serves the current interest of the great institutions of the financial world. And it is what sells products and makes money for the great busi-

Even the briefest list of the institutional truths to which you will have personal exposure is, I think, compelling.

Thus, by employment or perhaps an unhappy and one hopes brief haison, you may have future association in some way with the military establishment. There you will encounter our most powerful commitment to institutional truth. You will be required to believe that in an age of massive overkill we need even more nuclear weapons; you will be expected to believe that we need modernisation - a wonderful word — of our greatly redundant missile inventory; and you will be expected to believe that we must go on to ever more esoteric, ever more destabilising weaponry, including, with the de-parture of Mr. Reagan, the partly orphaned Strategic Defence In-

These, the institutional truths of the Pentagon and its outreach, you will be expected to accept. You will be required also to speak with a special solemnity of deterrence, of the Cruise Missile, the B-I Bomber and especially of the Stealth Bomber, against which, you will be required to observe with approval, the Russians can mount no presently known defence.

The institutional truth of our foreign policy establishment you will find almost equally exacting. In the event of your association with the Department of State or in suitably clandestine fashion, God forbid, with the Central Intelligence Agency or even in private life with the eminent Council on Foreign Relations, your beliefs will be strongly subject to the institutional view.

That there has recently been change in the Soviet Union you will have to concede. But this, according to the institutional truth, is temporary. And it could be another example of devious Russian trickery going back to Czars. Accordingly, with relaxing tensions you will believe that it is imperative that the United States not relax; on the contrary, as the Communist threat recedes, you will know that we must be more vigilant than ever. Relaxation in a time of relaxation is especially relaxing and therefore especially dangerous. That you must believe or anyhow say. It is now clear in our time that other nations do not want to be governed from Moscow, as also not from Washington. This is everywhere evident. And as the Soviets have had the blood-drenched lesson of Afghanistan, so we earlier that of Vietnam. The institutional truth holds, however, that the Soviets are still relentlessly, if now rather more surrentitiously, expansionist. Accordingly, we must everywhere by on guard. The danger remains great in Nicaragua and El Salvador, as it was a few years ago in Grenada. But all frontiers are vulnerable, and our nuclear umbrella must be over all our friends. You will wonder if the Russians really want responsibility for any task as intricate as running the economy of Japan, as also whether we want responsibility for the economy of Poland. All such thoughts you will be required to suppress. They are not in keeping with institutional

Those of you who join the foreign policy establishment must always have one basic rule in mind. In any great organisation, and notably in the foreign policy establishment, it is far, far safer to be wrong with the majority than to be right alone. And more reputable too. I speak here from personal experience. Those of us who, while in public office, to institutional truth, opposed our Vietnam involveHere I must all ment, as politely it is now called, have never enjoyed the same serene reputation, the same sublime respectability, as those who urged our intervention and bravely called forth the bombers. I come now to politics.

Some of you, I trust many, will seek elective office or be involved actively with those who do. This is good. It is a rewarding life, and not elsewhere can you so successfully combine a sense of service with study of the more eccentric extremes of social anthropology.

But in politics you will encounter the most esoteric of our institutional truths. Here you will encounter and perhaps vouchsafe the belief that, although we are still the world's richest country, we must tolerate in our great cities some of the world's most devastating and devastated slums — that in any movement from Calcutta or the favelas of Rio de Janeiro to the South Bronx little difference in deprivation will be detected. But, you will be required to believe, we can do nothing about it.

More public housing, adequate welfare payments, adequately paid teachers, sufficient recreational facilities, more community action programmes. would be, our wealth notwithstanding, too expensive. Additionally, such expenditures would, as I've noted, be damaging to the morals and economic moral of those so helped. All this you will be required to believe. Not believing, you will risk being considered subversive by your fellow statespersons.

Those among you who go to Washington will be most pressed to embrace the institutional truth. But so will those of you who go to Wall Street. The financial world

Here I must allow myself another personal note. I am not opposed to the making of money. Once, some years ago, I happened to be near Trinity Church at the top of Wall Street when the offices were closing. The crowds just released from hours of diligent self-enrichment surged out and by me. I was struck by a thought: how much better that this throng was committed to making money than were it involved with war, politics or religion. But here too in the financial community are strong and required beliefs.

The institutional truth of the financial world holds that association with money implies intelligence. And it holds broadly that the greater the amount of money. the greater the intelligence. And that the pursuit of money by whatever design within the law is always benign. This is the institu-tional truth of Wall Street; this you will be required to believe.

In truth, the larger the amount of money commanded, the greater very often the error, on occasions even the stupidity. So it was with the men (and, in the manner of the great banks, the few women) who made those loans to Latin America — loans that represented the much praised recycling of Arab oil revenues and that, not infrequently, were cycled on to private accounts in the Swiss banks. So it was more recently when some of our most celebrated financial minds took the largest and bravest positions before the 1987 crash. And so yet more recently with the operations of the great financial house of Drexel Burham Lambert.

That all financial operations are inherently benign is an even more compelling example of institutional truth. In these last years corporate raiding, lever-

Galbraith: Those of us who, while in public office. opposed our Vietnam involvement, have never enjoyed the same serene reputation, the same sublime respectability, as those who bravely called forth the bombers aged buyouts and the mergers and acquisitions mania have increased the debt structure of our industry dramatically and dangerously. They have also diverted attention from the serious problems of management and on occasion brought to the command of our business enterprises owners who did not even know what their newly acquired firm produced. That this good, that larsez-faire, laissez-passer will always provide, is the institutional truth that awaits you even at Morgan

Guaranty.

So far I have been discussing institutional truth in its grander manifestation. But not all of you are headed for the Defence Department or the State Department of Capitol Hill or Wall Street. Some of you very wisely will go on to the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration and will find your place in the great companies that comprise the free enterprise system. Alas, there too you will find required truth, although perhaps, as compared with Wall Street, on a slightly less munificent

There, depending on your employer, you will be expected to believe in the curative powers of bran-filled breakfast foods, Extra Strength Tylenol or Maalox Plus. This may be our least harmful form of institutional truth. No great social issues are involved. No grave public damage is threatened. You will not yourself be greatly affected unless in your institutional commitment you are led to ingest unreasonable quantities of the product yourself. Such then is your future. A daily choice extending on through the years between institutional truth. Green Hall, with a powerful combetween the convenient belief and reality. You will not be in doubt as to my hope. It is that you will choose cially when they are comfortably, reality. And be especially in conflict with the turgid tendencies of institutional truth on military and foreign policy. This is a time, I again emphasise, of great change in both the socialist and the nonsocialist lands.

Institutional truth, however, is sadly in conflict with the needed accommodation to that change accommodation that, especially on weaponry and arms control, would herald a safer, more peaceful

I read recently of a Washington inter-agency report responding to recent changes in the Soviet Union It was described as urging President Bush to, and I quote. "walk a fine line between a stand-put policy and occasional initiatives calculated to advance American interests." i urge you to join me in applause for the delicacy of that response There is a further case for reality as opposed to institutional truth That is the very considerable personal pleasure to be found in pursuing it. To the adherents of the institutional truth there is nothing more inconvenient, nothing that so contributes to discomfort, than open, persistent, articulate assertion of what is real.

In that assertion and in the displeasure and discomfort so caused, there can be a wonderfully malign enjoyment. Only rarely in life can one be so mean to such a good end.

It may, as I suggested, be safer to be wrong with the majority. But there is something wonderful in seeing a wrongheaded majority assailed by truth. And I venture to think, or anyhow to hope, that it was for this that your Smith education prepared vou.

I pray that you leave these levely precincts, Paradise Pond, John M. in all life one should comfort the afflicted the comfortable, and especontentedly, even happily wrong.

that the USA needs even more nuclear weapons... that the Soviets are still releatlessly expan Truths': that money implies intelligence... that poverty must be tolerated...

The Earth comes first

By Flora Lewis

PARIS — Some criticised President Bush's pledge to establish a Moon colony and a manned flight to Mars for lacking specifics about dates and money. But the real trouble is the idea itself.

Nostalgia for the proud glow that suffused the nation, and much of the world, when Neil Armstrong made his "giant step for mankind" 20 years ago isn't much reason for an extravagant new commitment. Have people forgotten how quickly it faded and left us with our real problems?

Space exploration is useful as well as satisfying to our innate, healthy desire to know more about the universe surrounding us. But it can be done at least as efficiently and at vastly less expense without shooting people off the home planet for a long time to

There are some quirky, narrow-based arguments for manned missions. One is NASA's cagerness for grandiose projects to keep it in business. Another is the wish of a few to be the ones to provide a vicarious great adven-ture to the rest of us. The former astronaut Rusty Schweikert advances the odd thesis that mankind's genetic pool is wearing thin and can be refreshed by ex-traterrestrial exposure. The real appeal, though, is an underlying sense of need for a "vision", an enterprise to give wings to the imagination and a feeling of grand purpose as we go about mundane affairs. Looking to the Moon and Mars is looking in the wrong direction. The time has come to find that vision on Barth. We have seen it in the photographs from space, the luminous blue ball swathed in lacy mists, sailing serenely through the emptiness. You could put a tiny "x" on the picture and mail it to friends with the message "That's where I live." But it doesn't look like that down here, and the way things are going we don't know how much longer it will look like that from out there.

The warnings come in a barrage now: sick seas awash with suffocating algae, ultraviolet radiation due to ozone depletion, global warming, loss of topsoil-(24 billion tons a year) as the population swells (by 86 million a year), loss of air-purifying

And they are beginning to be heard. At the Paris summit meeting, the Group of seven put major emphasis on the need for far-reaching environmental initiatives. For the first time, there was top-level recognition and en-vironment are linked problems that must be addressed in a common context.

President Francois Mitterrand of France, who supports the idea of a European environmental agency, has pointed out that there is no "political authority capable of taking decisions on a global scale" and that "the level of decision is not equal to the

This is true, but environment has become a mainstream political issue in many countries, including Communist-run states.
"Green" parties are sprouting in most democracies. People are ready to pay attention when clear, specific programmes are

The American Forestry Association launched a campaign to plant 100 million trees in U.S. cities by 1992, which would take only a drop out of the carbon dioxide bucket. But experts have concluded that planting lots more trees and protecting existing forests could make a significant difference in this menace to the

The U.S. General Accounting Office estimates that there are. 130,000 to 425,000 hazardous waste sites in the U.S. The Environmental Protection Agency has started cleanups of 257 and completed 48 since 1980, according to World Watch Institute.

Public concern and availability of information have come a long way since Ronald Reagan assured everybody that "acid rain comes from trees" and is nothing to worry about.

But the explosion of awareness has a drawback. There are so many aspects to the degradation we are imposing on our planet, so many kinds of problems, scien-tific, industrial and agricultural, local, national and global, that it's hard to know where to start.

Mind-boggling disasters are pre-dicted. Proposals come pouring out at a bewildering rate, without priorities or clear focus. This is the subject to pull together in a grand vision, to offer the goal of a sustainable earth, to provoke hope through action in which all can participate, and not just arouse dread. It will take the coordinated expertise of a great many people, just as man-on-the-Moon did. It will take a lot of our money, in the same way. It will take explanation, exhortation, provision of a unifying understanding that saving the earth is a noble, exhilarating endeavour in which all can take pride.

We do need to look forward to something exciting. Return to the Moon? Maybe some day. Anyway, it won't be the same the second time. For the poetry of leadership he seeks, let Mr. Bush proclaim: Meanwhile, back on the earth ... — New York Times.

Declaring war on cars By Ursula Mommsen-Henneberger

HAMBURG (DPA) - Jammed streets and stinking fumes from unstoppable tides of cars threaten to sabotage cities as we know them unless traffic planners and politicians act fast.

The counter-measures that are on the way, especially in the West, reduce the fumes and the traffic and even ban cars from city centres, but they are not always popular. Many West German towns have imposed 30-kilometre-per-hour speed limits in residential streets. Since drivers often flout limits, the streets have to be outfitted with speed bumps, or cars are forced to wind around tubs of plants set up on the roads. A full-scale debate is under way on whether 30 should be the limit on all streets in built-up

Munich is planning to issue residents with parking licences so that visitors cannot park any more in some parts of the city. Hamburg has encouraged commuters to use urban trains by setting up "park and ride" carparks at suburban stations.

Other cities are promoting cheap public transport passes that make buses and trains more attractive, or setting aside busonly lanes on arterial roads. West

Tel: 675571

Berlin is refusing to build nine planned parking buildings because they only encourage motor-

This is kids' stuff compared to moves in Los Angeles. An unprecedented plan worked out by U.S. environmental protection watchdogs means households in the polluted Californian conurbation will only be allowed to own so many cars.

Employers will have to promote carpooling under pain of fines, an urban rail system is planned and buses are to be adjusted so they can run on methanol instead of oil-based fuel. The whole anti-smog plan is supposed to be in place by the vear 2007.

Other U.S. cities have so far only tinkered with the problem, with little success.

Ideas tried include special rushhour lanes on freeways for cars with three or more people aboard. But not even $2 tolls on bridges and tunnels into Manhattan and astronomical parking building charges have scared off New York City motorists.

Scandinavia has tried other ways to block the hordes of private cars. Next year, private motorists in downtown Stockholm will have to buy and display an expensive public transport pass under their car windscreens. The price will fund frequent bus and train services, and might just persuade motorists to leave their cars at home too.

The Dutch government plans to impose "entry fees" for the inner cities and raise the taxes on motorised commuters. Austria already has extensive pedestrian-only zones in its cities and is discussing a similar fee for cars in cities. Paris, the city that even has traffic jams at midnight (on the Champs-Elysees) is tackling traffic another way. It wants to build a 50-kilometre network of tunnels where cars can once again speed through the city. But critics say that is pandering to motorists and will only means more polluted

In Italy, Bologna and Milan are the cities that have managed what Rome is not disciplined enough to achieve: banning all but local cars from the city centres during the daytime. Rome is supposed to have such a law but it is more honoured in the breach.

Switzerland has experimented with similar ideas and run into opposition from a Car Party, specially set up in 1985 to capture the government and thwart all measures against motoring liberty.

Tel: 677420 Cinema COACORD

THE BOSS WIFE

Performances: 3:30, 6:30, 8:30, 10:30 p.m.

AIJOUA

STAKEOUT

3:30, 6:30, 8:30, 10:30 pm

PLAZA

Tel: 677420

SPRING BREAK

Performances: 3:30, 8:30, 10:30, p.m.

Saudi aid, CBJ moves boost dinar

By Ghadeer Taher Jordan Times Staff Writer

AMMAN — The Central Bank of Jordan's (CBJ) decision Thursday to merge two local banks, the receipt of $200 million as grant from Saudi Arabia and the CBJ announcement that it would intervene in the market to stabilise the dinar have had positive effects on the market and the currency, Finance Mimister Basel Jardaneh said Saturday.

"As a result of these events, the Jordanian dinar is stronger today," Jardaneh told the Jordan

Commercial banks were buying and selling dollars in the range of 830 to 850 fils Saturday, compared with Wednesday's close of 850/870 fils. At the same time, the officially-set exchange rate went slightly down in the favour of the dollar, at 583 fils compared with 575 fils Wednesday. Jardanet said Saturday the move to take control of the affairs of Petra Bank and the Jordan Gulf Bank does not negatively effect investor confidence.

"The CBJ has taken this step to consolidate the banking system in Jordan," he said. "I do not think that this will discourage inves-

CBJ Governor Mohammad Saced Al Nabulsi also struck the same positive note. "The two banks are undercapitalised so we decided to merge them but it shouldn't discourage investors because we are protecting the depositors.

The Arabic daily Al Ra'i newspaper Saturday quoted Nabulsi as saying the "merger was a preemptive move to stop the collapse of these two banks which would have reflected badly on the national economy."

In a telephone interview with the Jordan Times Saturday, Nabulsi disussed reports that there was a run Saturday on Petra Bank deposits in the range of J D 3.5 million. "No, it is not true," he said. "In both banks it's business as usual.

Mohammad Abu Dalhoum, head of the deposits department at Petra Bank, said: "Nothing has changed in terms of deposits."

The same situation also emerged in the Jordan Gulf Bank in almost all its branches, according to Jihad Haddadeen, head of the deposit section. "In fact, deposits were better than withdrawals today." Saturday was the first working day for both banks after the CBJ took new board of directors for the new ioint entity.

A senior Petra Bank mana source said a top-level meeting was held Saturday to study the situation and there was no reason for any alarm. "The situation is very much normal and there is no reason for any worry," said the source. "All the bank's branches reported normal operations Saturday and we do not see any problem whatsoever."

Nabulsi also categorically denied reports that the CBJ had pumped in money to prop up Petra Bank. Some sources had said that the CBJ had given $1.8 million to the bank

Jardanch earlier had said: "If need be the CBJ will interject funds into the banks, but indications so far are that it will not be necessary." A banking source said Petra Bank may have received the quoted figure as part of a CBJ decision, which was announced Saturday, that it would supply commercial banks with addi-tional amounts of foreign exchange to control of their affairs and installed a cover imports included in last week's list of commodities for which foreign exchange was to be made available from the Central Bank.

The CBJ is to sell an amount of JI 16.5 million to commercial banks and financial institutions at 815 file to the dollar to be sold to customers at 820 fils to the dollar.

Meanwhile, speculation sur-rounded reports that Jordan was to receive or had received a sizesble sum U.S. Congress approved a land-mark savings and loan bailout as "non-interest deposit" from Saudi Arabia. Some said the figure was $500 million, coming from Saudi and Gulf investment houses, but others said it was $1 billion. Nabulsi rejected the reports as "not true." Jordan received a $200 million grant from Saudi Arabia to help boost its economy. Al Ra'i also quoted an official CRI source as saying that a half billion dollar deposit was expected soon.

"I don't know it we are getting any more aid from Saudi Arabia or from other Arab countries but I hope we will," Nabulsi told the Jordan Tunes #### early Saturday after a frantic two days of wrangling over the finishing touches on the biggest financial rescue in the country's The House passed the $159-billion bailout shortly after mid-night Friday (0400 GMT Satur-

George Bush's administration over financing the package. House members from the opposition Democratic Party abandoned the bill in large numbers after key congressional negotiators bowed to a veto threat by Bush and agreed to keep 60 per cent of the bailout's cost from approves

Congress

and loans

WASHINGTON (AP) -- The day) on a 201-175 vote, allowing weary members of Congress to begin a monthlong vacation after a bitter fight with President being included in the federal de-

savings

bailout

Japan leads world industrial production

spite an apparent setback in April, Japan continues to hold the lead among major countries in speeding its industrial production, according to the international Monetary Fund (IMF).

In a report released in Washington Sunday, the fund said that in the first three months of this year lapan's industry was producing 19 per cent more than in 1985, compared with 13-per cent for the United States, 10 per cent for West Germany and France and 9 per cent for Britain.

At the end of last year, Italy's production was 15 per cent above 1985 but figures for this year were not available.

The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency reported an increase of 9.5 per cent for Japan in 1988 more than is 1985.

WASHINGTON (AP) - De- over 1987. This year, the manif of April showed an unusual drop of 37,4 per cent from March, and an 11.8 per cent recovery in May

The fund compares changes for a three-month period with the corresponding quarter of the pre-vious year. In the first quarter of this year it reported an increa of 7.2 per cent for Japan, S.8 per cent for France, 4.8 per cent for West Germany, 4.6 per cent for the United States and 9 of 1 per cent for Britain.

Some smaller industrial comtries were doing better than the big ones. Norway's gain for the 12 months was 14.2 per cent, he May of this year its factories and on wells were producing 35 per cent

AMMAN EXCHANGE RATES

$80.1 $86.1 931.6 940.9 304.5 307.5 353.4 356.9 90.0 90.9 U.S. dollar Pound Steding Deutschemerk

Japanese yen (für 100) 414.8 Durch guilder 269.9 Swedish erown 89.4 Indian im (für 100) 42.3 Beigian franc (für 10) 145.3 272.6 90.3 42.7 146.8

Sowiets to cut economic growth; hoose consumer output by 1990

MOSCOW (R) - Soviet planning chief Yury Maslyukov has promised a consumer boom in 1996 to overcome mounting popular discontent over shor-

In a determined switch in the Soviet economy after decades of emphasis on heavy industry, Maslyukov called for a great leap forward in the production of television sets and other consumer goods to contain social unrest. Kremlin leader Mikhail Gorbachev has said 1990 will be vital for the success of his "peres-troika" reform programme. But, after seeing the draft fi-sures presented by Maslyukov to Supreme Soviet Thursday, the target set by Maslyukov which the planning chief said would be largely achieved by increasing home production and not through imports - seemed cut of reach.

A specialist at oe major embassy commented, "I cannot see how hev can schieve such a breakthrough so fast."

Anger over the lack of even basic household goods and food items was one of the key elements in last month's miners' strikes across the country and lies behind much worker unrest in other in-

Maslyukov said next year's plan would include an unprecedented 12 per cent increase in output of consumer goods. "We must in 1990 perform a great leap forward in this area... which will demand colossal reserves, organisation and discipline," said Masiyukov. The newstyle plan "will help remove the growth of social tension in our society," he added.

But the economic growth target would be only two per cent — the lowest annual peacetime target since the system of fiveyear plans was introduced in 1928.

It was set at six per cent for 1989 but is lagging at only 3.5 per cent half-way through the year. Maslyukov said next year's overall domestic trade turnover -: a key indicator of the consumer market - was planned to grow three times faster than in the period from 1986-89 and reach 435 billion roubles ($696 billion).

The planning chief said the consumer boom would be partly achieved through Is, cut of at least 30 per cent in government investment in heavy industry and by the conversion of many defence industry factories to produce popular products.

Leading Soviet financial expert. say the country is in economic crisis and in his report Maslyukov said the 1990 plan — the last of the current five-year period had "an emergency character."

The planning chief, also a nonvoting member of the Communist Party's ruling politburo, confirmed suggestions by Soviet economists that the current budget deficit was 120 billion roubles

($192 billion). This is 20 billion roubles ($32 billion) more than had been earher officially admitted and represents a figure of around 25 per cent of total planned government

ECONOMIC NEWS BRIEFS

Bakeries reopen after one-day strike

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) - The country's bakeries reopened Saturday after a 24-hour strike when the government agreed to discuss the bakers' grievances, including a demand for a 25-per cent price increase. But a government statement also said the strike was illegal and called on striking bakers to "show a sense of responsibility and perform their function for society." When most bakeries went on strike Friday, huge lines formed outside the few that were still making bread. Bakers are demanding an increase in the price for a standard loaf of French bread from 0.12 dinars (about 13 cents) to 0.15 dinars (about 16 cents). Bread is heavily subsidised in Tunisia, and a steep price rise in 1983 led to widespread anti-government rioting.

Strikes flare in Poland

WARSAW (R) - Polish workers are staging strikes against food price rises of up to 500 per cent, but major plants such as the Baltic shipyards and coal mines of the south appear unaffected so far, authorities said Saturday. They said the most serious stoppages occurred Friday in the railway and communications industries. In the western region of Legnica, where thousands of Soviet troops are based, strikers cut off the city from Poland's telephone and telex network. Railwaymen stopped commuter trains for four hours in the Baltic port of Gdansk, and bus drivers staged a sit-in strike in the western town of Zielona Gora. Railwaymen in the southwestern region of Silesia also stopped work for one hour. The workers protested against the Communist authorities' removal last Tuesday of most state subsidies on food prices. In some areas, prices for ham — a Polish staple — rocketed by about 500 per cent to 7,700 zloties ($9) a kilogram ($4

Yugoslay inflation rockets to 790%

BELGRADE (R) - Yugoslavia's Communist authorities suffered a blow Friday in their battle to rescue the economy when official data showed inflation soared to almost 790 per ccent in July. The Federal Bureau of Statistics said annual inflation rose by a monthly record of 136.4 percentage points to 788.6 per cent compared with 652.2 per cent in June. In July 1988, inflation stood at 188.9 per cent. The figures provided ammunition for critics of Prime Minister Ante Markovic, who took office in March and has come under increasing fire in parliament and in Yugoslavia's six republic's for failing to protect living standards. Markovic, a Croat, told the Communist Party's policy-making Central Committee last week that there was a plot to overthrow his government. He mentioned no names but his loudest critics are Serbs, traditional rivals of the Croats.

Fram's economic growth grounds ോ ചില്ലീർ, but no one is worried

FOR SALE

STEAK HOUSE

STEAKS DESSERTS

SOUPS, SALAD BAR

FOR RENT

Studio with shower and kitchenette, carpark and

Fourth Circle, call 678376

garden. Also suitable for private office.

FAMOUS AMERICAN

STEAKS

فتدق فياادلفيا

The Philodelphia

Tel. 634028

Nearly new, high-speed cooker. Brother.

TOKYO (R) — Japan's econo- government's four-per cent foremic growth ground to a bait last quarter but government economists say they aren't worried. They said the economy is arready showing signs of picking spring," a senior government up steam again, adding that economist said. A slowdown in growth looks certain to top the the April/June quarter, was to be cast for the year ending next expansion will continue until next

'There's a good chance the expected following the economy's stellar performance in the previous three mouths.

Government economists said the economy may have contracted slightly in the April/June quarter, after surging ahead 2.2

Domestic demand sagged after the April 1 introduction of a three- per cent sales tax, they said. Exports probably also fell.

SOUND AND LIGHT AT JERASH

Will reopen Aug. 6, 1989, evenings at 8:30 as follows: Arabic on Friday. Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday: English on Saturday, Monday, and Wednesday.

Tickets on sale at site at JD 1. (Children up to 12 years old only 100 fils).

Special JETT buses to Jerash leave daily from Abdali JETT station at 6 p.m. sharp and back to Amman after the show.

JORDAN COMPUTER SOCIETY

in cooperation with PSDP Presents a lecture (in English) on SHAREWARE: How software developers can profitably market and distribute their products

Tuesday, Aug. 8, 1989, 6:30 p.m. Abdul Hamid Shouman Foundation Lecture Hall Arab Jodan Investment Bank Building (5th floor)

All computer professionals invited

SECRÉTARIES WANTED

Mec Co. needs: Three secretaries - experience of not less than five years is essential; fluency in English is a must. Working time: 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

PASSPORT LOST

MD. Shafiqui Alam. Bangladesh nationality. Passport No. 494663 has been lost.

if found please contact telephone No. 740244. Thanks

4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Please send your C.V. to P.O. Box 6324, Amman, Jordan

WANTED

A full-time live in helper to work for a small family.

For interviews pls. call 601477 between 8:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. for 3 days

Kuwait reduces oil output

KUWAIT (R) — Knwait's oil minister said Saturday it had sharply reduced oil output and was now producing near the level of 1.35 million barrels per day (BPD) it had promised other OPEC members.

"We have reduced production by around four or five hundred thousand and we are very near the level that we have indicated to the other countries that we would be following," Sheikh Ali Al Khalifa Al Sabah told Reuters in an interview.

Oil analysts in the Gulf estimated last week that Kuwait's production for July was around 1.7 million to 1.8 million BPD, well below their estimate for June of about two million.

The Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), meeting in Vienna in June, assigned Kuwait a quota of 1.09 million BPD. Sheikh Ali said at the time he rejected the quota, but pledged to reduce output to help OPEC to defend world prices. "Since the meeting, gradually we have reduced by more than 400,000," he said Saturday.

MANY VILLAS AND APARTMENTS FOR RENT & SALE Furnished or Unfurnished

In Shmeisani, Sweifieh, Abdoun and many other locations.

For more information piease cali Waei Real Estate Tel: 685342

Weekiy Amman Financial Market trading

AMMAN (J.T.) — The following table summarises trading activities at the Amman Financial Market starting Saturday July 29, '89 and ending Wednesday August 2, '89. (Figures in Jordanian dinars).

| Name of company                             | Numberof shares | Volumeof trade | Opening -price                    | Closingprice | Parvalue |
|---|---------------------|--------------------|---------------------------------------|------------------|--------------|
| Banking and financial inst                  | itution             | 5           |                                       |                  | •            |
|   |                     |                    |                                       | -                |              |
| Industrial Development Bank                 | . 51                | 84                 | 1.700 ~-                              | 1.650            | 1.000        |
| Petra Bank                                  |                     | 68490              | 2,100                                 | 2.180            | 1.000        |
| Jordan Islamic Bank                         |                     | 15238              | 2.300                                 | 2.500            | 1.000        |
| Jordan Kuwait Bank                          |                     | 33600              | 1:300                                 | 1.470            | 1.000        |
| Jordan Gulf Bank                            |                     | T. 47289           | 1.120                                 | 1.140            | 1,000        |
| Housing Bank                                |                     | 5327               | 1.840                                 | 1.830            | 1.000        |
| Arab Jordan Investment Bank                 |                     | 460                | 2.330                                 | 2.300            | 1.000        |
| Cairo Amman Bank                            | ، .  ا   | _                  | _                                     | - · · · -        | 5.000        |
| Bank of Jordan                              |                     | 217380             | 15.200                                | 15.400           | 5,000        |
| Arab Bank                                   |                     | 5340136            | 198.500                               | 238.000          | 10.000       |
| Jordan National Bank                        | . 77649             | 195360             | 2.480.                                | 2.610            | 1,000        |
| Jordan Finance House for Development        |                     | _                  |                                       | -         | 1.000        |
| Jordan Investment and Finance Corporation   | . `'                | _                  | _                                     |                  | 1.000        |
| Finance and Credit Corporation              |                     | _                  | · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · | -     | 1,000        |
| National Financial Investments              | . 6050              | 11695              | 1.850                                 | 1.950            | 1.000        |
| National Portfolio Securities               | . 154040            | 252917             | 1.510                                 | . 1.700          | 1.090        |
| Arab Finance Corporation (Jordan)           | . 22836             | 50048              | 1.950                                 | 1.400            | 1.000        |
| Jordan Securities Corporation               |                     |                    |                                       | ·     | 1.000        |
| Real Estate Financing Corporation           | . —                 | _                  |                                | '—               | 2.000        |
| Beit Al Mal Saving & Investment for Housing | . 500               | 627                | 1.300                                 | - 1.250 ·        | 1.000        |
|   | -                   |                    |                                       |                  |              |
| Insurance and reinsurance                   |                     | 1.                 |                                       |                  |              |
|   | • . • .             |                    |                                       |                  |              |
|   |                     |                    | . :                                   |                  |              |
| Middle East Insurance                       |                     | . —                | — ·                            | . —              | 1.000        |
| Jordan French Insurance                     | . 35917             | 107714             | 3.010                                 | 3.000            | 1.000        |
| REFCO Life Insurance                        |                     |                    | ·                                     | · —              | 1.090        |
| Jordan Insurance                            | . 15650             | 47944              | 3.040                                 | 3.090            | 1.000        |
| Arab Life and Accident Insurance            | '                   |                    | · —                                   | · —              | 1.090        |
| Yarmonk Insurance and Reinsurance           |                     |                    |                                       | _                | 1.000        |
| Holy Land Insurance                         |                     | . —                |                                       | _                | 1.000        |
| Philadelphia Insurance                      | 48635               | 66301              | 1.360                                 | 1.490            | 1.000        |
| Arah Union International Insurance          |                     | _                  | . بـــ                                |                  | 1.000        |
| Jerusalem Insurance                         |                     |                    | · · · · · · · · ·                     |  .    | 1.000        |
| Jordan-Gulf Insurance                       |                     |                    |                                | _                | 1.000        |
| General Arabia Insurance                    |                     | · - -       | _                                     |                  | 1.000        |
| National Ahliva Insurance                   |                     | · —                | ·                                     | _                | 1,000        |
| Arab Belgian Insurance and Reinsurance      |                     |                    | ·                                     | _                | 1.000        |

| General Arabia Insurance   |                       | -               | — .     |  | 1,0               |
|--|-----------------------|-----------------|----------------|--|-------------------|
| National Ahliya Insurance  |                       | -               |  ·  | _  | 1.0               |
| Arab Belgian Insurance and Reinsurance   | · —                   |                 | ·   | _  | 1.0               |
| United Insurance   | ·                     | -               |  .  | _  | 1.0               |
| Services and industries  | •                     |                 |                |  | ٠.                |
| Sel vices and induser res  |                       | ٠               |                | •  |                   |
| General Investments  |                       |                 |                |                                       | 1.0               |
| Inma for Investment and Financial Facilities                                       | 9582                  | 9532            | 0.930          | 1.000  | 1.0               |
| Darco for Housing and Investment   | 298342                | 249425          | 0.820          | 0.860  | 1.4               |
| Real Estate Investment (Aqarco)  | 42811                 | 28586           | 0.670          | 0.670  | 1.0               |
| Jordan Gulf Real Estate Investment   | 45150                 | 15330           | ·0.330         | 0.350  | 1.0               |
| Jordan Leasing Corporation   |                       |                 |                |  | . 1.0             |
| Petra Enterprises and Leasing Equipments   | 101685                | 16594           | 0.660          | 0.670  | 1.0               |
| Equipment Leasing & Maintenance/Ta jeerco  | 44564                 | 16963           | 0.860          | 0.890  | 1.0               |
| International Contracting & Investment   | 0.4200                | - -      | - 400          |  | 1.                |
| Jordanian Electric Power   | 34328                 | 51323           | 1.490          | 1.500  | 1.0               |
| Irbid District Electricity   | 227606                | . 620262        | 1 7/0          |  | 1.9               |
| Arab International Hotels  | 377696                | 520262          | 1.260          | 1.420  | 1.0               |
| Hotels and Tourism   | 1000                  | 500             | 0.520          | 0.500  | 1.1               |
|  | 1000                  | 500             | 0.320          | 0.300  | 1.0               |
| Garage Owners Federation Office  | 104292                | 144585          | 1.290          | 1.420  | 1.                |
| Jordan Press Foundation  | 2572                  | 7459            | 3.000          | 1.4202.900                                   | 1.0               |
| Jordan Press and Publishing  |                       | 1-07            | 3.000          | 2.500  | 1.                |
| Dar Al Shaab Press, Printing and Publishing  | · -            |                 |                |  | 1.                |
| Jordan Dairy   | 17304                 | 19402           | 1.110          | 1.150  | 1.                |
| Arab Pharmaceutical Manufacturing  | 79210                 | 361721          | 4.350          | 4.870  | ì.                |
| Intermediate Petrochemical Industries  | 668425                | 1791450         | 2.600          | 2.680  | 1.                |
| Jordan Phosphate Mines   | - 7701         | 35965           | 4.610          | 4.910  | 1.0               |
| Industrial, Commercial and Agricultural (Intai)                                    | 28578                 | 49284           | 1.690          | 1.810  | 1.                |
| Arab Chemical Detergent Industries   | . 6680                | 37029           | 5.560          | 5.680  | 1.                |
| Jordan Kuwait for Agricultural Products  | . -        | · —             |                |  | 1.                |
| Jordan Sweets and Chocolate Manufacturing  | 1.1 71 · - | ·  . | . — .          |  .                                    | 1.                |
| Aladdin Industries   | 88089                 | 238695          | 2.590          | 2.810  | 1.                |
| Arab Aluminium Manufacturing   | 238683                | 550764          | 2.220          | 2.360  | 1.                |
| Jordan Worsted Mills   | 5776                  | 28562           | 4.850          | 5.10 0                                | 1.5               |
| Jordan Ceramics  | 31625                 | 77500           | 2.340          | 2.540  | 1.                |
| Chemical Industries  | 4625                  | 11776           | 2.410 :        | 2.570  | 1.                |
| Jordan Industries and Match (JIMCO)Dar Al Dawa' for Development and Investment | 18531024622       | 27412379458 | 1.350          | 1.510  | 1.0               |
| National Steel Industries  | 74849                 | 193010          | 3.0402.600 | 3.390  | 1.                |
| Universal Chemical Industries  |                       | 102851          | 3.430          | 2.620  | . 1.              |
| General Mining   | ·                     |                 | J130           | 3.500  | 5.1.          |
| Jordan Petroleum Refinery  | 28000                 | 221824          | 7.900          | 7.920  | L.                |
| Jordan Lime & Brick  | 142650                | 16098           | 0.120          | 0.120  | 1.                |
| National Industries  | 75                    | 69              | 0.950          | 0.900  | 1                 |
| Arab Paper Converting and Trading  | 42071                 | 18729           | 0.380          | 0.480  | ī.                |
| Arab Investment and International Trade  | 4687                  | 2765            | 0.620          | 0.590  | ì.                |
| Jordan Wooden Industries (JWICO)   | 53562                 | 168572          | 3.000          | 3.130  | i.                |
| Livestock and Poultry  | · —                   |                 |                | 71.54  | 1.                |
| Jordan Pipes Manufacturing   | 20661                 | 51990           | 2.450          | 2.540  | 1.                |
| Rafia Industrial for Plastic Rass  | ·                     | ···             |                |  | î.                |
| Jordan Paper and Cardboard   | 3184                  | 14750           | 4.590          | 5.000  | î.                |
| Jordan Rockwool Industries   | 512840                | ` 810540        | 1.490          | 1.600  | î.                |
| Trans-Jordan Minerals Research   |            |                 |                | .1.900   | į.                |
| Jordan Himeh Mineral   |                       | -               | ,              | ::-::                                     | i.                |
| Orient Dry Batteries Factory   | -                     | · . —           | ` _            | : 1=:  | . 1               |
| Woolen Industries  | · · · ·               | _               |                |  | î.                |
| Jordan Tanning   | 490                   | 975             | 2,000          | 1.980  | š.                |
| Jordan Printing and Packaging  | · · · ·               | · \ _           |                | 1.300  | j.                |
| Jordan Tobacco and Cigarette   | 190                   | 3610            | 19.500         | ***  |                   |
| Mas Industries   | . –                   |                 |                | 19.000   | 1:                |
| Arab Center for Pharmaceuticals & Chemicals  | 390048                | 956776          | 2.270          |  | 1.                |
| National Cable & Wire Manufacturing  | 56600                 | 164492          | 2.960          | 2.440  | _1.               |
| Jordan Spinning & Weaving  |                       | 1309971         | 1.390          | 2.920  | . 1.              |
| Jordan Sulpho Chemicals  | 142638                | 323115          | 2.140          | ं ; 1.740 ः                               | ŀ.                |
|  | 122334                | ··· 120005·     | 1.000 · ·      | 2.300  | 1.                |
| Iordan Cement Pactories  | 226.7                 |                 |                |  | 7 1               |
| Jordan Cement Pactories  |                       |                 |                | 0.980  |                   |
| Jordan Cement Factories  | 5448578948        | 6380656119  | 1.0900.710 | 0.5001.2100.730                          | 1.11.11.1 |

On the brink: as fans tried to climb over the fence to safety police turned them back fearing a crowd invasion.

Rose bet to maintain high

NEW YORK (AP) - When his playing days ended, gambling re-placed baseball as Pete Rose's No. 1 love, Paul Janszen says. "Maybe when he was playing, the excitement was enough for him," Janszen, once one of Rose's closest friends and now his major accuser, said in an interview published in the September issue of Penthouse. "But now

BY CHARLES GOREN

East-West vulnerable. South

EAST

♥ 43

0 10 7 6 5

North East

3 ♥

Opening lead: Six of * The hallmark of an expert is his card-play technique. He takes every chance to ensure his contract. To illustrate our point, we've made a slight change in a hand played at the recent Spring North American Championships by Steve Robinson

After uncovering the heart fit,

THE BETTER HALF,

"Lately, even when we're being close, you seem distant."

Answer here: HIS OOO 4

Jumples: ONION BERET :: LINLOCK HANGER Answer: Her choice of husband showed better taste than this—HER COCKING

THAT SCRANBLED WORD GAME
by Hend Amold and Bob Lee

HARRIS ....

one latter to each squ four ordinary words.

KEEVO

RAWLD

PANOWE

ERRTAY

North invited game. With five trumps and a maximum no trump abounding in prime cards, South had no hesitation in accepting. West's lead of the six of spades,

♦ QJ ♥ K 10 9 8

0 K 4 3 2

SOUTH

8 LAO

Pass Pass

of Washington, D.C.

• A ¥3
▽ Q 7652

WEST

GOREN BRIDGE

A LESSON IN TECHNIQUE

that he was managing... it was like the game was passing him by. Rose, once a star player for the Cincinnati Reds, now manages the team. "She needed something to ful-fill this high feeling. I think bet-ting did it."

In the article, Janszen said Rose bet on all sports, including baseball and his own Cincinnati Reds.

his second-best, is the modern way

of showing a worthless suit. Declarer's problem was to keep East off lead so as to protect the king of

A discard from dummy was not going to help, so declarer won the spade in hand and led a heart toward the king. West did as well as he could by rising with the ace and exiting with the jack, won on the board. Since hearts had split evenly, declarer could afford to overtake the queen of spades with the ace and ruff the remaining spade. Next, he cashed the king of diamonds and

In with the queen of diamonds, West had a choice of losing returns.

A spade would yield a ruff-and-

sluff and a club would set up the

Note that declarer's line of play

guaranteed the contract whenever East had the queen of diamonds or the suit split 3-3-the 13th diamond would be set up for a club discard while dummy had a trump entry to cash it. If West had four diamonds to the queen, declarer would still be able to fall back on leading a club to the king for the fulfilling trick.

For information about Charles Gorea's newsletter for bridge play-ers, write Gorea Bridge Letter, P.O. Box 4426, Orlando, Fla. 32362-

By Harris

NO!

her strong will

DOMINATED THIS.

Now arrange the circled letters to form the surprise answer, as suggested by the above cartoon.

(Answers tomorrow)

king as the game-going trick.

then finessed the jack.

clubs from a lead through.

like the the way Mario Soto (of the Reds) was pitching, then Pete would rather not bet," Janszen said. "But aside from Soto, he had his money on them. "Pete said betting on the Reds made it more interesting."

Reds, according to Janszen.

"Sometimes, when Pete didn't

Under baseball rules, Rose could be banned for life should commissioner A. Bartlett Giamatti be convinced the manager bet on his own team.

Janszen recently finished serving a six-month sentence at a Cincinnati halfway house after being convicted of income-tax evasion on the sale of steroids. He is among those who told baseball investors that Rose bet on Reds' games, among others.

In the article, Janszen portrays Rose as living a life where cash was king. He said baseball's alltime hit leader bet huge sums of money on all sports and refused to pay all of his gambling debts.
Although he said Rose bet staggering amount of money, Janszen didn't think it was out of line for a man he assumed was a millionaire. But he said he was surprised at how often Rose bet.

If seemed that betting was more important to Pete than if he won or lost," Janszen said. "Winning was only good because it provided him with cash, allowing him to do more of what he loved most in the world."

Janszen said he once asked Rose if he was afraid of betting since he would talk about it in front of strangers. He recalled Rose saying, "Paul, they want the bookie, they don't want the people betting.

According to the article, Janszen said he loaned Rose $42,250 to help cover the manager's betting losses. When FBI agents began questioning him, Janszen said he called Katz, asking for "at least" $30,000 from Pete now."

After he received a check for $10,000 and was told that was all he was going to gets Janszen began making his damaging allegations.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

FLYING HIGH OVER AMMAN: AMMAN (J.T.) — The Royal Jordanian Gliding Club awarded Wa'il Abdalleit the silver medal for gliding Saturday after he managed to stay airborne in a glider for five hours continuously over Amman. The record flight came after a long programme of intensive training by the club and its members during the current summer season. The club is now preparing to train a member who can engage in a 300 km t, which would qualify for the the World Gliding Organisation whose headquarters are in Paris.

BLACK SEA RESORT CANDIDATE FOR 1998 WINTER (OLYMPICS): The Soviet Union's national Olympic Committee has proposed the Black Sea resort town of Sochi as the country's candidate for the 1998 winter Olympics, TASS News Agency said in Moscow Friday. Sochi, a favourite among Soviet holidaymakers in summer because of its warm climate, was selected largely because of its developed infrastructure and good ski slopes some 50 kilometres from the city, TASS said. The resort was chosen in preference to Alma Ata, capital of the Central Asian Republic of Kazakhstan and Bakuriani in the Transcaucasian republic of Georgia. (R)

STIEB MISSES PERFECT GAME BY ONE OUT: For the third time in his career Friday night, Toronto's Dave Stieb missed pitchingh a no-hitter in the last inning of the game. The Blue Jay's 32-year-old right-hander, who lost two no-hit bids with two out in the ninth iming last September, was only one out away from a perfect game when he gave up a double to Roberto Kelly and a single to steve Sax before winning the game against the New York Yankees 2-1. "This one was nothing compared to those two," Stieb said after retiring the first 26 batters. Last Sept. 24, Cleveland's Julio Franco got a bad-hop single. On Sept. 30, Baltimore's Jim Traber hit a soft single. Stieb consoled himself with becoming one of the few pitchers to throw consecutive one-hitters. In other American League games, it was Texas 6, Baltimore 4; California 6, Milwaukee 2; Oakland 5, Seattle 3; Cleveland 4, Boston 3; Minnesota 5, Kansas City 1, and Chicago 5, Detroit 4. (AP)

SPAIN VACCINATES HORSES AMID FEARS OF PLA-GUE: Doctors in Southern Spain have vaccinated 700 horses after three animals died in a suspected fresh outbreak of African equine plague, local government officials said in Cadiz Saturdav. The highly infectious disease, which had been eradicated from Europe, has struck twice in Spain in the past two years, arousing fears that it could jeopardise equestrian events at the 1992 Barcelona Olympics. Officials said tests would establish within two weeks if the disease was responsible for the deaths of three horses at a farm in Sotogrande near Gibraltar over the past week. The animals, imported from Uruguay seven months ago, had gone through quarantine. Authorities in Catalonia, which will host the 1992 Olympics, asked the Madrid government to ban horses from other parts of Spain from being brought into the region. (R)

SALVADOR'S HOME MATCH SWITCHED TO U.S.: EI Salvador's home Concacaf world cup qualifying match against Trinidad/Tobago has been switched to Miami, a spokeswoman for the Orange Bowl stadium said in Miami Friday. The spokes-woman said the match would take place in the Orange Bowl August 13, with the starting time tentatively set for 4 p.m. EDT (2000 GMT). The International Football Federation (FIFA) stripped El Salvador of the right to stage home games indefinitely following a riot that erupted last month near the end of a 4-2 home loss to Costa Rica. (R)

TOP FRENCH OFFICIAL TO GO TO SOUTH AFRICA: The vice-president of the French Rugby Union Federation (FFR) said in Agen Saturday he would attend the game's centenary celebrations in South Africa in a personal capacity. "In ignoring South Africa, which is one of the leading rugby nations, we are denying ourselves of the chance of meeting top level players," Gny Basquet told Reuters. "I do not approve of apartheid at all, but neither do I approve of communism or dictatorship, but we have not been stopped from going to Romania, the Soviet Union, Poland or Argentina," he said. Basquet's announcement followed reports that France's Franck Mensel and Laurent Rodriguez had accepted invitations to join a tour. (R)

Hillsborough disaster initial report

Inept police planning killed 95

LONDON (AP) — Inept police planning and supervision led to the stadium crush that killed 95 soccer fans, a British government inquiry reported Friday, but stadium operators, city officials and unruly fans shared the blame.

The report recommended improvements in all British soccer decisions and give orders seemed stadiums, including a drastic restadiums, including a drastic reduction in standing-room areas such as the one where the deaths occurred, and painted a grisly picture of young fans dying as the game went on just yards away.

"The main reason for the disaster was the failure of police control," the 71-page report said.
"Neither their handling of prob-lems on the day for their account of it in evidence showed the qualities of leadership to be expected of their rank."

Chief superintendent David Duckenfield, who was in com-mand at Sheffield's Hillsborough stadium for the April 15 game and was singled out for criticism in the report, was suspended within hours of its release.

His boss, chief constable Peter Wright, offered his resignation and accepted responsibility for Britain's worst sports disaster.

The report said Duckenfield, promoted to his command post three weeks before the game, was inexperienced and unable to deal with the unfolding tragedy. It accused him of failing to cope with the surge of fans into a penned-off area after an entrance gate was ordered open.

"She simply could not face the enormity of the decision to open the gates and all that flowed therefrom," the report said. "Mr.

Duckenfield's capacity to take

The report, released two weeks before the start of the 1989-90 English soccer season, called for a 15 per cent reduction in standing room capacity and better coordination between police and stadium officials.

Issues such as pre-game drinking by fans, the government's plan for spectator ID cards and the possibility of wiping out standing room will be discussed in the inquiry's final report, expected in several months. Rogan Taylor, head of the said he was pleased with the report but warned it cannot eliminate the possibility of future stadium tragedies.

"When 50,000 people gather together, there's a risk of something like this happening," he said. "I think this report is trying to reduce that risk."

The tragedy occurred at the start of a playoff game between Liverpool and Nottingham Forest. The 95 killed and 170 injured were Liverpool fans who were crushed against anti-hooligan gates when late-arriving fans flooded into the stadium.

Because of overcrowding and some crowd disturbances outside the 19th-century stadium, police decided to open a large gate to let

1982, travelled with the squad

to direct them to open areas once inside, the late arrivals stormed into an already packed standing area behind the Liverpool goal.

Police were blamed in the report for not anticipating the rush and failing to channel the fans into less-crowded areas, and then for a "sluggish reaction" to the deadly crush.

"The dead, the dying and the desperate became interwoven at the front of the pens, especially by the gates," the report said.

An "unruly minority" of fans exacerbated the situation by insulting and spitting on rescue workers, the report said. Club officials were blamed for "confused and inadequate" ticket directions and signs.

The Sheffield City Council was accused of a "serious breach of Football Supporters Association, duty" for failing to update the stadium's safety plan despite changes in the layout at Hillsbor-

Communications breakdowns among Sheffield authorities were detailed in the report, including the transcript of a conversation in which police officers struggled to convince fire officials that a major tragedy was occurring at the

The report was hailed by British home secretary Douglas Hurd, who said officials failed to learn from previous tragedies, including the Heysel Stadium riot in Brussels in which 39 people died and a stadium fire in Bradford, England, that killed 53.

"The tragedy would not have

in fans. With no police or ushers occurred if lessons learned in the past had been properly applied," Hurd said. "It is for everyone concerned to ensure they are applied in the future." Peter Taylor, the judge who headed the inquiry, said the report's recommendations were designed for immediate imple-

Taylor said he considered calling for the immediate dismantling of perimeter fences after hearing witnesses testify fans were "treated like caged animals." Instead, several cases of hooliganism at games after the Hillsborough disaster convinced him the fences were needed to control

Conditions on the terraces the term for standing areas in English stadiums — must be improved for safety purposes, he

Soccer's international ruling body, in a decision in part influenced by the Hillsborough disaster, decided last month to ban standing room at all World Cup matches starting in 1992 and all major club matches the following

The FIFA decision has drawn some criticism from those who point to the expenses of providing seats for all fans. Many European stadiums have large standing sections.

But, seating is definitely safer and we have to accept that and face up to any problems it may cause us," said Ernie Walker, secretary of the Scottish Football Association, in a recent inter-joined Canada's national team in TORONTO (AP) — A former Canadian bobsledder says steroids transformed him from a 128throughout Europe and competed in the 1984 Winter Olympound (58-kilogramme) weakling into a barroom bully.

Flynn:from weakling to bully via steroids

And a former York University football player admits he bought 20-dollar shots of the banned drugs from a Toronto physician and also got steroids from Ben Johnson's doctor.

The admissions Friday capped a week of varied testimony at an inquiry in drugs in amateur sport. Earlier in the week, top amateur sports officials admitted existing drug tests designed to catch steroid users don't work.

The inquiry was sparked when Johnson lost a gold medal and world record in the 100-metre dash after testing positive for steroids at last fall's Seoul Olym-Former bobsledder Clarke

Flynn, said he weighed just 128 pounds (58 kilogrammes) in high a shot.

But while at Ottawa's Carleton University, Flynn said he grew six inches (15 centimetres) in height and discovered weightlifting and steroids. He soon bulked up to 185 pounds (84 kilogrammes).

Flynn said the drugs were also helpful for bobsledding. He ordered and as much as I wanted," said Logan, adding he

Artinian was unavailable for Flynn said he got stronger, but the drug had undesirable side "I became aggressive," said Flynn,, adding he took a job as a barroom bouncer for a time while on steroids. Flynn said he gave up steroids effects.

in 1984 and quit the bobsled team Mark Logan, won also admitted taking the muscle-building drugs while he was on the football team at Toronto's York University from 1981 to 1984. Logan, now a chiropractor living in Missouri, said teamamtes directed him to the Toronto office of Dr. Ara Artinian. He said Artinian gave him a weekly injection of steroids for 20 dollars "He gave me wahtever I visited the physician regularly for about three years. comment Friday, his secretary

Logan said he eventually decided to save money and went to the black market for his steroids. He said he purchased several types, including a veterinarian brand meant for horses, from Jamie Astaphan, who has admitted giving steroids to Johnson and his teammates on the national sprint team.

Logan said Astaphan cared more about him than the other doctor, advising him on doses and clearance times, the period of time necessary to allow drugs to leave the body in order to pass a urine test. Logan said he now competes as later this month.

States, but has given up steroids. Earlier this wek, sports officials said they have known for years that athletes were cheating urine

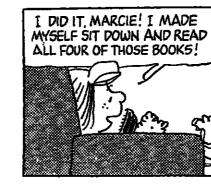

a weightlifter in the United

Dr. Manfred Donike, a mem-In 1985, he heard about Dr. ber of the International Olympic Committee's anti-doping commission, said a controversial test that can detect long-term steroid use by measuring athletes' hor-mone levels should be adopted. Earlier in the week, Dr.

Robert Dugal, head of Montreal's Olympic testing lab, called for an aggressive system of random, out-of-competition testing. The inquiry adjourned until

CHANG LATEST UPSET VICTIM AT STRATTON: French Open champion Michael Chang joined the legion of upset victims at the international '89 tennis tournament in Vermont when he ran into a giant roadblock in the quarter-finals Friday. Jim Grabb, who at 1.93 metres towers over the second-seeded Chang, crushed his fellow-American Chang 6-2, 6-4 to reach the semifinals against compatriot Jim Pugh. Pugh, seeded 14th, advanced with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over 12th seed Robert Seguso The other semifinal will match third seed Brad Gilbert against unseeded David Wheaton, who knocked out top seed Andre Agassi Thursday. The unseeded Grabb, ranked 114th, has had an outstanding week, winning every set in four matches and overpowering three seeded players — Yannick Noah (number seven), Johan Kriek (10) and Chang. "When you've been able to play at a certain level you ache to play at that level again," said Grabb. (R)

Peanuts

Mutt'n' Jeff

Andy Capp

it

S. African crowds defy police curbs on anti-apartheid funeral

CAPE TOWN (R) — Crowds packed a Cape Town church Saturday, defying South African police restrictions to honour two-anti-apartheid activists killed in a bomb blast last

Police Friday clamped curbs on the political funeral of coloured (mixed-race) activists Coline Williams, a 22-year-old drama student, and Robbie Waterwitch, 20, who died July

According to police, the two were probably setting a bomb when it exploded outside a public toilet near a courthouse.

The Reverend Allan Boesak, a leading anti-apartheid campaigner, told 3,000 mourners at a Roman Catholic church in Cape Town's coloured (mixed race) suburb of Athlone: "Young people come to believe that planting bombs is the only way to bring change. Every person who dies in this way dies because of our cowardice.

"But let this be known: We will not give up the struggle. Too much has happened for us to turn back now," Boesak said as crowds packed into the church for the two-hour service overflowed into the parking lot

Police said the funeral should be held indoors, that only priests should address the crowd and that no political material should be displayed. But a huge banner in the colours of the outlawed African National Congress (ANC) hung from the steeple and others decked the church walls in open defiance of a tough police pre-

A police helicopter hovered overhead and four policemen stood on top of vans.

The pamphlet circulated at the church said Williams was an area commander for the ANC's military wing and was killed on her fourth guerrilla operation. It said she had recruited Waterwitch as a novice.

Mourners included Anglican Archbishop Desmond Tutu, liberal parliamentarian Jan van Eck and several activists defying government restriction orders to attend the funeral. Several hundred people in the ity when there is oppression," Tutu told the congregation.
"Our God is on the side of the hungry and oppressed." Police curbs also barred

"Our God is not a neutral

God. There can be no neutral-mourners from moving on foot from the church to the graveside. But Peter Makoba, president of the banned South African Youth Congress, ended the service with an open exhortation to march to the bu-

"These are your battle orders. Let us be peaceful as we march to the grave," he said. "But withstand the violence of the enemy. Do not be intimi-

Africa peace moves China endorses southern

HARARE (R) — China has swung its diplomatic weight behind efforts to ease tension in southern Africa but ruled out any diplomatic contacts with Pretoria until it ended apartheid.

Foreign Minister Qian Qichen, halfway through a six-country regional tour, told a news conference Friday China saw "a growing momentum for reconciliation and an increasingly visible prospect for peace."

"The situation in southern Africa is moving from tension to relaxation and from confrontation to dialogue," he said. China would support southern African states if they adopted "correct policies in the light of realities." He sounded more optimistic on

TOKYO (R) - Two candidates

nominated Saturday for the presidency of Japan's ruling Liberal

Democratic Party (LDP) said

they had received money from a company at the heart of the nation's worst postwar political

Front-runner Toshiki Kaifu.

scandal.

regional developments, including Namibia's current transition to independence from South African rule, than Zimbabwe's President Robert Mugabe, who frequently says South Africa is not to be trusted as a diplomatic

The Chinese minister described s talks with Magabe, a longtime friend of Peking, as excellent and very friendly. He came to Zimbabwe from Lesotho and Botswana and will go on to Angola, Zambia and Mozambique.

He balanced his remarks by saying that South African authorities had not adopted any substantive policies or measures on the fundamental issue of abolishing apartheid.

"We call on the South African authorities to get a clear view of the situation in conformity with the historical tide, adopt enlightened policies and renounce apartheid." be declared.

South Africa should release jailed nationalist leader Nelson Mandela and open a dialogue ments" on the establishment of a unified, democratic and free South Africa, he said.

There were no official links or contacts whatsoever between China and South Africa but Peking permitted visits by South African tourists, Chinese residents of South Africa, and South African academics invited to conferences.

Africa, has gone further than China in opening discreet diplomatic contacts with Pretoria.

"I think the people of South Africa are entitled to resort to various means to strive for their

also backed dialogue in southern

The Chinese minister made clear in reply to a question about use of armed struggle by South African "Liberation movements" that Peking no longer saw this as the best way of ending apartheid legitimate rights. But on the other hand I think that at present the international community should... pressure the South African authorities into a peaceful settlement of this question by way The Soviet Union, which has of negotiations," he said. Recruit scandal rears its head again

14 Indians, 25 civilians said killed

Sri Lankan rebels report major clash

COLOMBO (Agencies) — Fourteen Indian soldiers and 25 civilians were killed in Sri Lanka's northern Jaffna district this week in clashes between troops and Tamil separatist guerrillas, the rebels said.

The Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam said in a statement fight-ing broke out at Valvettiturai Wednesday and Thursday while Sri Lanka and India were holding talks in New Delhi on the withdrawal of 45,000 Indian troops from the island.

In the southern areas 16 people were killed by suspected Sinhalese militants in the 24 hours up to Saturday morning, official sources said.

They said three members of the security forces were among those killed by suspected rebels of the People's Liberation Front who want the Indian forces to leave.

A Sri Lankan delegation led by Foreign Minister Ranjan Wiieratne returned to Colombo Friday night after week-long talks in New Delhi ended without agree-

A government statement said Wijeratne would report on the talks to President Ranasinghe

HAVANA (R) — Cuba has shown again it will resist the reforms sweeping the Communist world when it banned two Soviet Officials said Premadasa was spending the weekend at Kataragama, a Buddhist religious centre 175 kilometres southeast of Colombo.

The Tigers said eight Indian soldiers were killed and several wounded in the fighting at Val-vettiturai Wednesday.

They claimed Indian forces then went on a rampage killing 25

The Tigers killed six soldiers in two separate incidents the following day, the statement said, but it did not say whether there were any rebel casualties. Indian officials were not available for com-

Sri Lankan military sources said about 4,000 Tamils had sought refuge in Sri Lankan army camps following the fighting.

The Tigers have been fighting Indian soldiers over the past two years after rejecting a 1987 Indo-Sri Lanka accord which sought to end a separatist rebellion by the minority Tamil community.

Cuba reaffirms resistance

They began peace talks with the government two months ago and have been demanding the withdrawal of the indian forces.

Indian offer

India Friday made a conditional offer to withdraw 1,500 troops a week from Sri Lanka.

However, statements issued in New Delhi said only that the talks were cordial and friendly, without mentioning an agreement. Sri Lankan Foreign Ministry sources said the Indian offer came Friday before the two sides ended week-long talks in New Delhi aimed at finding ways to make India withdraw its peacekeeping troops.

"At this moment I can say that the talks went on well," Sri Lanka's high commissioner, or ambas-sador, S.S.P.P. Kalpage said in New Delhi, adding: "There are proposals and counter-proposals, and also there are ifs and buts.

But Sri Lankan Foreign Ministry sources in Colombo said India agreed to withdraw 1,500 troops a week if the Tigers observed a ceasefire and no attacks are mounted on the Indians.

BRUSSELS (AP) - Beiginn's

army may be small, but it's getting fatter all the time. Over the last decade, recruits gained an average of 2.5 kilogrammes to reach 70.4 kilos, while their average height remained at 1.77 metres. The youngsters have lost their appetite for physical efforts," said Defence Minister Guy Coeme. To keep the army trim and ready, Coeme introduced a new sports programme, officials said Friday. "It aims to be a health plan for the youngsters," Coeme said. "We have to improve their liking for sports and make it a habit." About 35,000 recruits are tested every year. Last year, 1.993 of them topped 100 kilos, up from 572 two years ago, Officials said it showed on the army training grounds where the recruits are less and less capable of coping with the exercises. The percentage of recruits who are in perfect health slumped to 42 per cent from 66 per cent over the last decade. Those suffering from minor problems rose to 48 per cent from 28 per cent. To boost the programme, the army has already bought 100 million francs ($2.38 million) worth of new sports shoes.

Belgian army is small but fat

Global weather

(major world cities)

|              | 274.76    |     |    |     |        |
|--------------|-----------|-----|----|-----|--------|
| -            | ¢         | Ŧ   | C  | Ŧ   | Yest   |
| ANSTERDAM    | 17        | 63  | 23 | 73  | Clear  |
| ATHENS       | 21        | 70  | 32 | 80  | Cleak. |
| BAHRAIN      | 30        | 86  |    |     | Closer |
| BANGKOK      | 25        | 77  | 33 | 91  | Cleer  |
| BUENOS AIRES | 06 | 48  | 17 | 63  | Cheer  |
| CAIRO        | 24        | 75  | 37 | 99  | Clear  |
| CHICAGO;     | 23        | 74  |    |     | Clear  |
|              | 15        | 54  | 17 |     | Cloud  |
| FRANKPURT    | 08 | 48  | 23 |     | Clear  |
| GENEVA       | 09 | 48  | 28 |     | Cloud  |
| HONG KONG    | 27        | 81  | 31 |     | Clear  |
| STANBUL      | 17        |     | 27 |     | Clear  |
| LONDON       | 15        |     | 28 |     | Close  |
| LOS ANGELES  | 18        | 64  | 29 |     | Cloud  |
| MADRID       | 20        | 68  | 27 | 81  | Clear  |
| MECCA        | 27        | 81  | 44 | 111 | Clear  |
| MONTREAL,    | 12        | 54  | 28 |     | Rein   |
| MOSCOW       | 13        | 55  | 19 | 65  | Cloud  |
| NEW DELHI    | 26        | 79  | 34 | 94  | Cloud  |
| NEW YORK,    | 26        | .79 | 39 | 91  | Cloud  |
| PARIS        | 16        | 61  | 27 | 81  | Clear  |
| POME         | 14        | 57  | 30 | 86  | Cleer  |
| SYDNEY       |           | 60  | 17 | 63  | Clesu  |
| TOKYO        | 25        | .77 | 29 | 84  | Cloud  |
| VIENNA       | 51:       | 70  | 25 | 77  | Cloud  |
|              |           |     |    |     |        |

publications as too favourable towards Western democracy and capitalism.

Cuban President Fidel Castro has made "socialism or death" his motto in two speeches this year and the official newspaper Granma, in an editorial disclosing the ban on the weekly Moscow News and the monthly Sputnik Friday, orthodox socialist course. Granma described the two journals as "justifying bourgeois democracy as the highest form of popular participation and with a fascination for the American way of life."

said Cuba would continue its

"We are fighting for socialism and communism and therefore publications like these do not interests and are not for us," the editorial said. It rejected "those who deny the

to Gorbachev-style reforms

guiding role of the party in the Soviet Union, call for a multiparty system, proclaim the free action of the laws of the market, exalt foreign investments, rediscover private property, question internationalism and solidarity with other nations." Cuba has found itself out of step with free-market and multiparty trends in most Communist countries, led by Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev's perestroika, or restructuring, and glasnost, or openness, policies.

Granma rebuked some Soviet reformists for forgetting their own history, saying Sputnik and Moscow News "give the idea that the USSR has no history (and) that it is necessary to begin again starting from zero.
"They forget that thanks only to all that has been achieved in these years of Soviet power and under the umbrella of strategic parity has it been possible to develop the present process in that nation." Castro in recent speeches has projected a bleak picture of a

Cuba that could come under siege as a result of a hostile United States and the disintegration of Marxist-Leninist ideology and the Communist bloc. He has suggested Cuba one day might not receive the massive aid from the Soviet Union which has helped keep the island's economy

affoat for the past 30 years. No Western newspapers or magazines are sold to Cubans. Foreign journalists and diplomats have been able since last year to subscribe to U.S. publications.

THE Sunday Crossword

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE By Gayle Dean

| 9  | Stravensky               | 42 Dumpster stuff               | 74 Com unit                          | 109 Moogral                         |
|----|--------------------------|---------------------------------|--------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| 13 | Rings                    | 44 Lawyer, abbr.                | 75 Provo's state                     | 110 Spring feetive                  |
| 18 | Recent                   | 45 Alder or elder               | 76 Sovereign of                      | 112 Whittie sway                    |
| 18 | Court name               | 46 A-one                        | fcan                                 | 114 Morpents of                     |
| Ž  | Xanthippe to             | 45 Setter or stew               | 77 Ecol. gp.                         | time .                              |
| _  | Socretes                 | 52 Strengthened                 | 79 Take an oath                      | 117 Frank exchus                    |
| 21 | Paternal                 | 54 Faux pas                     | 83 Of birds                          | of views                            |
|    | kinstnan                 | 56 Punpilish red                | 87 "Milke" word                      | 121 ler. king                       |
| 23 | Touched ground           | 58 Headlong action              | 88 Glove material                    | 122 Social cines                    |
|    | Glet                     | 50 Cause                        | 89 Meks plans for                    | 123 Adventage                       |
|    | Sultor                   | emotional pain                  | 91 Harsh                             | 124 Actress Adep                    |
|    | Multitude                | 61 Globa                        | 92 BMs                               | 125 Sicilian                        |
|    | Abounded                 | 63 Author Milne                 | 93 Heroic tate                       | voicano                             |
|    | Chama                    | 84 Rainbow                      | 94 Crow's cry                        | 126 Pulled                          |
|    | Heng expund              | goddess                         | 85 Open wide                         | 127 Tioled                          |
| _  | ldky                     | 65 Formerly called              | 98 Embraces                          | 128 Faculty head                    |
| 34 | Flying prefix            | 66 Look over                    | 102 On in years                      | 129 Professed                       |
|    | DOWN .                   |                                 |                                      | •                                   |
| •  | Cabbage dish             | 25 Beginner                     | 59 Use the tub                       | 92 Cut canines                      |
|    | Circle of light          | 28 Asian ruler                  | 80 Daricaes                          | 93 Dais                             |
|    | Stanches in a            | 25 Stake                        | 62 Orchestra leader                  | 96 Ebberi                           |
| •  | MEA.                     | 33 Travel money                 | 66 Catis                             | 97 Max: money                       |
|    | Sky streak               | 35 Surpassed                    | 67 Editor's mark                     | 99 Retained                         |
|    | Screege's word           | 37 "— Sisters"                  | 68 Cathe no                          |                                     |
|    | Cruising                 | (Chekhov)                       |                                      | 100 Flying high101 Get the lead |
|    |                          |                                 | . 70 Long toeth71 Niger pelabbor | Uni dest min seed                   |
| •  | Deceptivepretense    | 38 Hodgepodge39 Ms Kett     |                                      |                                     |
|    | Meestaber of             |                                 | 72 River into the                    | 102 Stateled pai103 Vistor      |
| •  | the cods                 | 40 Actor Beatly41 See herel | 73 Hot rock                          | 104 Postry Muse                     |
| •  | — Jiwama gaas        | 43 Bridge of -                  | 75 Taking                            |                                     |
|    | — Jaka"Humboldt's ∸" | 47 Money player                 |                                      | 106 Piping110 Major totlows     |
| œ  | (Bellow novel)           | 47 Morey payer49 SBly       | advantage of                         |                                     |
| 14 | Frequently               | 50 Scatter                      | 76 Pl≡yground kem78 Dries up     | 111 Spreedunchecked             |
| 12 | Prepares                 | 51 Louthed                      | 80 Violes for abort                  | 113 Director                        |
| -  | leftovers                | 52 College on the               | 81 Comp. pt.                         | Kazan                               |
| 12 | — Sue Marth              | Charmes                         | 82 Pursuit                           | 115 Beack sight                     |
| ä  | Mild onth                | 54 First name in                | 84 Personified                       | 116 Strike                          |
| -  | war Adrij                | 34 LRST ORMS M                  | 0- responsible                       | 110 0000                            |

| -3. smitted 1.  |                    |                    |                |
|-----------------|--------------------|--------------------|----------------|
| ACROSS          |                    |                    |                |
| Room: Sp.       | 23 Over            | 34 Get ready       | 46 Put on the  |
| Tork bigwigs    | 24 Cheles of Eight | 36 Scarlett's home | 48 Alms        |
| Lifework        | 25 County capiliai | 37 Haggard novel   | 49 Distanded   |
| Hard to discern | 26 Harble or       | 38 Pepper          | 50 Redacts     |
| Plane place     | Horace             | 29 Columnist       | 52 Saliches    |
| Hamlet and      | 27 Smell — (be     | Bombeck            | 53 Aboma an    |
| Borge           | (ency)             | 40 Air, revine     |                |
| Lings           | 28 Storehouses     | 41 Beigham         | 56 Formerly of |
| Screp           | 30 Lived           | Young's state      | 57 Makes has   |
| Exile lale      | 38 London art      | 44 Candle          | 59 Assert      |
| Terms           | gallery            | 45 Uncovered .     | en if not      |
|                 |                    |                    |                |
| DOWN            | •                  |                    |                |
| Champagne       | 13 Harbinger of    | 29 Huffed and      | 42 Came don    |
| Word            | spring             | pulled             | after Dight    |
| Oriental        | 14 Lower in rank   | 30 Distorted       | 43 Reddy of    |
| nursemeld       | 15 Snicker         | 31 Prepared for    | 44 Viscount 1  |
| Calabria cash   | 17 Light brown     | battle             | Ope            |
| Place for       | 18 Have pertinence | 32 Ger. industrial | 45 Stinger     |
| sports          | 19 Maties          | Valley .           | 47 Dingle      |
| Set apart       | 21 Abraham's wife  | 34 Statue bases    | 51 Use a rink  |
|                 |                    |                    | 54 Lat abbr.   |
| Topcoats        | 22 Do the town     | 35 Formy           |                |
| Titled ladies   | 23 Cupid           | 36 Hectors         | 65 Metched     |
| Hostekies       | 24 Skimmer and     | 36 Small fish      | collections    |
| Muttee and resi | boster             | 46 Scepters        | 58 Understand  |
|                 |                    |                    |                |

Edited by Herb Ettensor

Last Week's Cryptograms

New notice on my boss's office wall: "Of coarse I want h by yesterday. If I wanted it by today, I'd wait till tomorrow to tell you."
 Gium carpenter's apprentice deemed tools used on job were just awl plame boring.
 Child actor got his ego boost after famous drama critic bailed debut.
 Very basically, invention aside, a dearth of money becomes the mother of accessive.

CRYPTOGRAMS

LECHRM EISXD SIKXCIBLA YWWP EISL DBL - ALIM SMAL LDEI HEBBY AM 17ADRI KAML L RTCUORI TENGAHUOA GACLAM PHONY YAORELAC DCPLI HURT DEEM OCAGT

3. FLIKLE FLEIBRD FLIMMSY RK FLESRS QX

LADDQLABAH, RXY FLDRELESY QE MDIB PLESYABS.

A A VUS OURROY OVINE NYVE RE IVIV 1748

"BY OKAY YBY!"

former education minister, told a Kaifu was once a protege of the press conference he had received late Prime Minister Takeo Miki, about 15 million yen (more than who was considered the conscien-$100,000) in political donations ce of the party and worked to from Recruit, the centre of a

He reported the donations earlier this week, but the local press speculated he did not report other money received from the company.

shares-for-favours scandal.

"We of course didn't know at the time it would cause such a great social problem," Kaifu said.
"Naturally we would never have got involved if we had known."

Kaifu, 58, denied doing any favours for Recruit.

He is considered virtually certain to be Japan's next prime minister, thanks to support from the LDP's biggest factions headed by former Prime Minister Noboru Takeshita and former Foreign Minister Shintaro Abe.

root out corrupt political prac-Rival Shintaro Ishihara, a dashing 56-year-old novelist, revealed he had received but later returned an unspecified amount of money from Recruit.

three million yen (more than $21,000) on 1987 and 1988. Donations such as those re-

Major newspapers reported Saturday he had received about ceived by Kaifu and Ishihara are not illegal. The third contender, 62-year-old former Health and Welfare Minister Yoshiro Hayashi, said he never had any connection with

The Recruit scandal led to the resignation of former Prime Minister Noboru Takeshita in His successor, Sosuke Uno, himself embroiled in a sex scandal, announced he would resign following the LDP's resounding defeat in Upper House elections

All three candidates called for a revision of an LDP-sponsored sales tax, seen as a prime cause of the party's election defeat.

Kaifu called for a thoroughgoing revision, but said the three per cent level should be main-

Some LDP members have proposed removing the tax from foodstuffs or earmarking it for social welfare.

LDP members of parliament vote on the party presidency Tuesday, and Wednesday the man chosen will be elected premier by both houses of parlia-

It will be the first time in 17 years that the selection of a prime minister has gone to parliament members instead of being conducted among LDP leaders. Due to the LDP's majority in the powerful Lower House, the presidency of the party carries with it the job of prime minister. It is not clear whether Kaifu would be allowed to remain in power beyond the current term which expires at the end of

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Soviet Far East floods wreak havoc

MOSCOW (R) - Ten days of floods in the Soviet Far East have killed 17 people and submerged part of the Trans-Siberian railway, the official news agency TASS said Friday. It said damage was estimated at more than 400 million roubles ($650 million). Soldiers were fighting to save the city of Dalnerechensk, where an embankment had collapsed under pressure of water. TASS said a section of railway would be blown up to channel the water into a small valley where it would not threaten homes and farms. A major ecological disaster threatened the town of Partizansky to the south, where several million tonnes of ash waste from a thermal power station had been washed away threatening the most fertile land in the region. A state of emergency was declared Monday in the Far East after 18 districts were inundated with water, leaving thousands of cattle stranded, towns without drinking water and hundreds of kilometres of power lines down.

'Mafia threat national emergency

ROME (R) - The threat posed to Italy by the mafia was a national emergency and the fight against it was one of the government's chief priorities, Italian Prime Minister Giulio Andreotti said Friday. Speaking to the parliamentary anti-mafia commission in Rome, Andreotti called for more police to be drafted into areas of Sicily and southern Italy where the criminal society operated. "(The mafia threat) is an emergency of such complexity and seriousness that the government's most concerted efforts are unequal to it without the total and dedicated involvement of all the state's resources," said Andreotti. He said parliament would give priority to all legislation, particularly on drug trafficking, which helped in the fight and said he was considering ways of penalising banks and employees involved in the laundering of illicit mafia

India landslide buries 35

NEW DELHI (AP) - A landslide buried about 35 bus passengers Saturday, killing at least 15 of them, as they tried to clear boulders blocking a remote mountain road in northern India, news reports said. United News of India (UNI) said the accident occurred on a highway connecting India with Tibet, about 300 kilometres north of New Delhi. The news agency said rescuers using bulldozers had found 15 bodies.

Cuba train crash kills 30

HAVANA (R) — Two speeding passenger trains collided head-on 160 kilometres east of Havana Friday, killing 32 people and injuring 117, the Cuban News Agency AIN reported. The accident occurred before dawn in the city of Colon when a train travelling to Havana from the town of Sancti Spiritus collided with a train going from Havana to Camaguey.

Bangladesh flood maroons 100,000

DHAKA, Bangladesh (AP) - More than 100,000 people were marconed, many of them perched on roofs, after floods engulfed northeastern Bangladesh, killing at least 60 people, officials said